3 [c] For we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another.

4 [d] But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared,

5 [e] Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost;

6 [f] Which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour;

7 [g] That, being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life.

8 [h] This is a faithful saying; and these things I will that thou affirm constantly; that they which have believed in God might be careful to † maintain good works. These things are good and profitable unto men.

9 [i] But avoid foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and vain.

10 [k] A man that is a heretic, after the first and second admonition, reject;

11 Knowing that he that is such, is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself.

12 [l] When I shall send Artemas unto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come unto me to Nicopolis: for I have determined there to winter.

13 [m] Bring Zenas the lawyer, and Apollos on their journey diligently, that nothing be wanting unto them.

14 [n] And let ours also learn to maintain good works for necessary uses, that they be not unfruitful.

15 All that are with me salute thee. Greet them that love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

¶ The Epistle of PAUL to PHILEMON.

1 Paul's joy in hearing of the faith and love of Philemon. 10 Onesimus entreated for.

[a] PAUL, a prisoner of Jesus Christ, and Timothy our brother, unto Philemon our dearly beloved, and fellow-labourer,

2 [b] And to our beloved Apphia, and Archippus our fellow-soldier, and to the church in thy house:

3 Grace to you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 [c] I thank my God, making mention of thee always in my prayers,

5 [d] Hearing of thy love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all saints;

6 [e] That the communication of thy faith may become effectual by the acknowledging of every good thing which is in you in Christ Jesus.

7 [f] For we have great joy and consolation in thy love, because the bowels of the saints are refreshed by thee, brother.

8 [g] Wherefore, though I might be much bold in Christ to enjoin thee that which is convenient,

9 Yet for love's sake I rather beseech thee, being such a one as Paul the aged, and now also a prisoner of Jesus Christ.

10 [h] I beseech thee for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my bonds:

11 Which in time past was to thee unprofitable, but now profitable to thee and to me:

12 Whom I have sent again: thou therefore receive him, that is mine own bowels:

13 [i] Whom I would have retained with me, that in thy stead he might have ministered unto me in the bonds of the gospel:

14 [k] But without thy mind would I do nothing; that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly.

15 [l] For perhaps he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldest receive him for ever;

16 [m] Not now as a servant, but above a servant, a brother beloved, especially to me, but how much more unto thee, both in the flesh and in the Lord?

17 If thou count me therefore a partner, receive him as myself.

18 If he hath wronged thee, or oweth thee aught, put that on mine account;

19 I Paul have written it with mine own hand, I will repay it: albeit I do not say to thee how thou owest unto me even thine own self besides.

20 Yea, brother, let me have joy of thee in the Lord: refresh my bowels in the Lord.

21 [n] Having confidence in thy obedience, I wrote unto thee, knowing that thou wilt also do more than I say.

22 [o] But withal prepare me also a lodging: for I trust that through your prayers I shall be given unto you.

23 [p] There salute thee Epaphras, my fellow-prisoner in Christ Jesus;

24 [q] Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas, Lucas, my fellow-labourers.

25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to Philemon, by Onesimus a servant.

¶ The Epistle of PAUL, the Apostle, to the HEBREWS.

CHAPTER I.

1 The essential dignity of the Son, by whom God hath revealed himself in these last days: 4 his pre-eminence above the angels in office.

[a] GOD, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets,

2 [b] Hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds;

3 [c] Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high;

4 [d] Being made so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they.

5 [e] For unto which of the angels said he at any time, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee? And again, I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son?

6 [f] And again, when he bringeth in the first-begotten into the world, he saith, And let all the angels of God worship him.

7 [g] And of the angels he saith, Who maketh his angels spirits, and his ministers a flame of fire.

8 [h] But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom:

9 [i] Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows.

10 [k] And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thy hands:

11 They shall perish, but thou remainest; and they all shall wax old as doth a garment;

12 And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.

13 [l] But to which of the angels said he at any time, Sit on my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool?

14 [m] Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?

CHAPTER II.

1 Our obligation to give earnest heed to the gospel....5 The dominion of the world not granted to angels, but to the Son, &c.

[a] THEREFORE we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip.

2 [b] For if the word spoken by angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward;

3 [c] How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him;

4 [d] God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?

5 [e] For unto the angels hath he not put in subjection the world to come, whereof we speak.

6 [f] But one in a certain place testified, saying, What is man, that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that thou visitest him?

7 [g] Thou madest him a little lower than the angels; thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and didst set him over the works of thy hands;

8 [h] Thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. For in that he put all in subjection under him, he left nothing that is not put under him. But now we see not yet all things put under him:

9 [i] But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels, for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man.

10 [k] For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the Captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings.

11 [l] For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren;

12 [m] Saying, I will declare thy name unto my brethren; in the midst of the church will I sing praise unto thee.

13 [n] And again, I will put my trust in him. And again, Behold, I, and the children which God hath given me.

14 [o] Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil;

15 [p] And deliver them who through fear of death were all their life-time subject to bondage.

16 For verily he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham.

17 [q] Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful High Priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people:

18 [r] For in that he himself hath suffered, being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

CHAPTER III.

1 Christ is shewed to be more worthy than Moses: 7 therefore we must be careful not to follow the example of the obstinate and unbelieving Israelites, &c.

[a] WHEREFORE, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus;

2 [b] Who was faithful to him that appointed him, as also Moses was faithful in all his house.

3 [c] For this man was counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he who hath builded the house hath more honour than the house.

4 [d] For every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God.

5 [e] And Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after:

6 [f] But Christ as a Son over his own house; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end.

7 [g] Wherefore (as the Holy Ghost saith, To-day, if ye will hear his voice,

8 [h] Harden not your hearts, as in the provocation, in the day of temptation in the wilderness;

9 When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my works forty years.

Anno DOMINI 64.

10 [i] Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and said, They do always err in their heart; and they have not known my ways.

11 [k] So I sware in my wrath, They shall not enter into my rest.)

12 [l] Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God.

13 [m] But exhort one another daily, while it is called To-day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.

14 [n] For we are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast unto the end;

15 [o] While it is said, To-day, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in the provocation.

16 [p] For some, when they had heard, did provoke: howbeit not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 [q] But with whom was he grieved forty years? was it not with them that had sinned, whose carcases fell in the wilderness?

18 [r] And to whom sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but to them that believed not?

19 [s] So we see that they could not enter in because of unbelief.

CHAPTER IV.

1 The Christian's rest to be attained by faith....12 The power of God's word, &c.

[a] LET us therefore fear, lest a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it.

2 [b] For unto us was the gospel preached, as well as unto them: but the word preached did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in them that heard it.

3 [c] For we which have believed do enter into rest; as he said, As I have sworn in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 [d] For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, And God did rest the seventh day from all his works.

5 And in this place again, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 [e] Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter therein, and they to whom it was first preached entered not in because of unbelief:

7 [f] Again, he limiteth a certain day, saying in David, To-day, after so long a time; (as it is said) To-day, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

8 For if Jesus had given them rest, then would he not afterward have spoken of another day.

9 [g] There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

10 [h] For he that is entered into his rest, he also hath ceased from his own works, as God did from his.

11 [i] Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief.

12 [k] For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

13 [l] Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do.

14 [m] Seeing then that we have a great High Priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession.

15 [n] For we have not a high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.

16 [o] Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

CHAPTER V.

Of the high priests taken from among men; wherewith Christ's priesthood is compared, and its privileges set forth.

[a] FOR every high priest taken from among men is ordained for men in things pertaining to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins:

2 [b] Who can have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that are out of the way; for that he himself also is compassed with infirmity.

3 [c] And by reason hereof he ought, as for the people, so also for himself, to offer for sins.

4 [d] And no man taketh this honour unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 [e] So also Christ glorified not himself to be made a high priest; but he that said unto him, Thou art my Son, to-day have I begotten thee.

6 [f] As he saith also in another place, Thou art a priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedec.

7 [g] Who in the days of his flesh, when he had offered up prayers and supplications, with strong crying and tears, unto him that was able to save him from death, and was heard in that he feared;

8 [h] Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered;

9 [i] And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him;

10 [k] Called of God a high priest, after the order of Melchisedec.

11 [l] Of whom we have many things to say, and hard to be uttered, seeing ye are dull of hearing.

12 [m] For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat.

13 [n] For every one that useth milk is unskilful in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe.

14 But strong meat belongeth to them that are of full age, even those who by reason of use, have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil.

CHAPTER VI.

1 The higher doctrines of Christianity proposed to be treated of....10 Of charitable deeds, &c.

[a] THEREFORE, leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,

2 [b] Of the doctrine of baptisms, and of laying on of hands, and of resurrection of the dead, and of eternal judgment.

3 [c] And this will we do, if God permit.

4 [d] For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Ghost,

5 [e] And have tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the world to come,

6 [f] If they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame.

7 For the earth which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing from God:

8 [g] But that which beareth thorns and briers is rejected, and is nigh unto cursing; whose end is to be burned.

9 But, beloved, we are persuaded better things of you, and things that accompany salvation, though we thus speak.

10 [h] For God is not unrighteous, to forget your work and labour of love, which ye have shewed toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints, and do minister.

11 [i] And we desire that every one of you do shew the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end:

12 [k] That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises.

13 [l] For when God made promise to Abraham, because he could swear by no greater, he sware by himself,

14 Saying, Surely blessing I will bless thee, and multiplying I will multiply thee.

15 [m] And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise.

16 [n] For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife.

17 [o] Wherein God, willing more abundantly to shew unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath;

18 [p] That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us:

19 [q] Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which entereth into that within the vail;

20 [r] Whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made a high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.

CHAPTER VII.

1 Christ, a priest after the order of Melchisedec, 11 is proved to be far more excellent than the priests of Aaron's order.

[a] FOR this Melchisedec, king of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him;

2 To whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all: first being, by interpretation, King of righteousness, and after that also, King of Salem, which is, King of peace;

3 Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but, made like unto the Son of God, abideth a priest continually.

4 [b] Now consider how great this man was, unto whom even the patriarch Abraham gave the tenth of the spoils.

5 [c] And verily they that are of the sons of Levi, who receive the office of the priesthood, have a commandment to take tithes of the people according to the law, that is, of their brethren, though they come out of the loins of Abraham:

6 [d] But he, whose descent is not counted from them, received tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 [e] And without all contradiction the less is blessed of the better.

8 [f] And here men that die receive tithes; but there he receiveth them, of whom it is witnessed that he liveth.

9 And as I may so say, Levi also, who receiveth tithes, paid tithes in Abraham.

10 [g] For he was yet in the loins of his father, when Melchisedec met him.

11 [h] If therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, (for under it the people received the law,) what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron?

12 For the priesthood being changed, there is made of necessity, a change also of the law.

13 For he of whom these things are spoken, pertaineth to another tribe, of which no man gave attendance at the altar.

14 [i] For it is evident that our Lord sprang out of Juda; of which tribe Moses spake nothing concerning priesthood.

15 [k] And it is yet far more evident: for that after the similitude of Melchisedec there ariseth another priest, 16 Who is made, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of an endless life.

17 [l] For he testifieth, Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.

18 [m] For there is verily a disannulling of the commandment going before, for the weakness and unprofitableness thereof:

19 [n] For the law made nothing perfect; but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God.

20 And inasmuch as not without an oath he was made priest;

21 [o] (For those priests were made without an oath; but this with an oath, by him that said unto him, The Lord sware, and will not repent, Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec;)

22 [p] By so much was Jesus made a surety of a better testament.

23 [q] And they truly were many priests, because they were not suffered to continue by reason of death:

24 But this man, because he continueth ever hath an unchangeable priesthood.

25 [r] Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them.

26 [s] For such a high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens;

27 [t] Who needeth not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people's: for this he did once, when he offered up himself.

28 [u] For the law maketh men high priests which have infirmity; but the word of the oath, which was since the law, maketh the Son, who is consecrated for evermore.

CHAPTER VIII.

1 The excellency of Christ's ministry, 6 being the mediator of a better covenant.

[a] NOW of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such a high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens;

2 [b] A minister of the sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man.

3 [c] For every high priest is ordained to offer gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it is of necessity that this man have somewhat also to offer.

Anno DOMINI 64.

4 [d] For if he were on earth, he should not be a priest, seeing that there are priests that offer gifts according to the law;

5 [e] Who serve unto the example and shadow of heavenly things, as Moses was admonished of God when he was about to make the tabernacle: for, See, (saith he) that thou make all things according to the pattern shewed to thee in the mount.

6 [f] But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises.

7 [g] For if that first covenant had been faultless, then should no place have been sought for the second.

8 [h] For finding fault with them, he saith, Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah;

9 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers, in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt: because they continued not in my covenant, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 [i] For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts; and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people:

11 [k] And they shall not teach every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know me, from the least to the greatest.

12 [l] For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more.

13 In that he saith, A new covenant, he hath made the first old. Now that which decayeth and waxeth old, is ready to vanish away.

CHAPTER IX.

1 By the imperfection of the legal sacrifices, 11 he sheweth the efficacy of the blood of Christ....16 The necessity of Christ's death.

[a] THEN verily the first covenant had also ordinances of divine service, and a worldly sanctuary.

2 [b] For there was a tabernacle made; the first, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shew-bread, which is called the Sanctuary:

3 [c] And, after the second vail, the tabernacle, which is called the Holiest of all;

4 [d] Which had the golden censer, and the ark of the covenant overlaid round about with gold, wherein was the golden pot that had manna, and Aaron's rod that budded, and the tables of the covenant;

5 [e] And over it the cherubims of glory shadowing the mercy-seat: of which we cannot now speak particularly.

6 [f] Now when these things were thus ordained, the priests went always into the first tabernacle, accomplishing the service of God:

7 [g] But into the second went the high priest alone once every year, not without blood, which he offered for himself, and for the errors of the people:

8 [h] The Holy Ghost this signifying, That the way into the holiest of all was not yet made manifest, while as the first tabernacle was yet standing:

9 [i] Which was a figure for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect as pertaining to the conscience;

10 [k] Which stood only in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal ordinances, imposed on them until the time of reformation.

11 [l] But Christ being come a high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building;

12 [m] Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood, he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us.

13 [n] For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of a heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh;

14 [o] How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?

15 [p] And for this cause he is the Mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.

16 For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator.

17 [q] For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth.

18 Whereupon neither the first testament was dedicated without blood.

19 [r] For when Moses had spoken every precept to all the people according to the law, he took the blood of calves and of goats, with water and scarlet wool, and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book and all the people,

20 [s] Saying, This is the blood of the testament which God hath enjoined unto you.

21 [t] Moreover, he sprinkled likewise with blood both the tabernacle and all the vessels of the ministry.

22 [u] And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 [x] It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.

24 [y] For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us:

25 [z] Nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others;

26 [a] For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once, in the end of the world, hath he appeared, to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself.

27 [b] And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment;

28 [c] So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time, without sin, unto salvation.

CHAPTER X.

1 The law-sacrifices ineffectual to take away sins....10 By the offering of Christ's body once we obtain perfect remission, &c.

[a] FOR the law, having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect.

2 For then would they not have ceased to be offered? because that the worshippers once purged should have had no more conscience of sins.

3 [b] But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance again made of sins every year.

4 [c] For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins.

5 [d] Wherefore, when he cometh into the world, he saith, Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not, but a body hast thou prepared me:

6 In burnt-offerings and sacrifices for sin thou hast had no pleasure:

7 [e] Then said I, Lo, I come (in the volume of the book it is written of me) to do thy will, O God.

8 Above, when he said, Sacrifice, and offering, and burnt-offerings, and offering for sin, thou wouldest not, neither hadst pleasure therein; which are offered by the law;

9 Then said he, Lo, I come to do thy will, O God. He taketh away the first that he may establish the second.

10 [f] By the which will we are sanctified, through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.

11 [g] And every priest standeth daily ministering, and offering oftentimes the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins:

12 [h] But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins, for ever sat down on the right hand of God;

13 From henceforth expecting till his enemies be made his footstool.

14 [i] For by one offering he hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified.

15 Whereof the Holy Ghost also is a witness to us: for after that he had said before,

16 [k] This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them;

17 And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more.

18 Now where remission of these is, there is no more offering for sin.

19 [l] Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus,

20 [m] By a new and living way which he hath consecrated for us, through the vail, that is to say, his flesh;

21 [n] And having a high priest over the house of God;

22 [o] Let us draw near with a true heart, in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water.

23 [p] Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised;)

24 [q] And let us consider one another, to provoke unto love, and to good works:

25 [r] Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more as ye see the day approaching.

26 [s] For if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins,

27 [t] But a certain fearful looking for of judgment, and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries.

28 [u] He that despised Moses' law died without mercy under two or three witnesses:

29 [x] Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?

30 [y] For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people.

31 [z] It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

32 [a] But call to remembrance the former days, in which, after ye were illuminated, ye endured a great fight of afflictions;

33 [b] Partly, whilst ye were made a gazing-stock, both by reproaches and afflictions: and partly, whilst ye became companions of them that were so used.

34 [c] For ye had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better and an enduring substance.

35 [d] Cast not away therefore your confidence, which hath great recompense of reward.

36 [e] For ye have need of patience; that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise.

37 For yet a little while, and he that shall come will come, and will not tarry.

38 Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.

39 [f] But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition, but of them that believe to the saving of the soul.

CHAPTER XI.

1 The nature of faith....6 Without faith we cannot please God: the fruits of faith.

[a] NOW faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.

2 For by it the elders obtained a good report.

3 [b] Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear.

4 [c] By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: and by it he, being dead, yet speaketh.

5 [d] By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God.

6 [e] But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.

7 [f] By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith.

8 [g] By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went.

9 [h] By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise:

10 [i] For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.

11 [k] Through faith also Sarah herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful who had promised.

12 [l] Therefore sprang there even of one, and him as good as dead, so many as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sand which is by the sea shore innumerable.

13 [m] These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.

14 For they that say such things, declare plainly that they seek a country.

15 And truly if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned:

16 [n] But now they desire a better country, that is, a heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God; for he hath prepared for them a city.

17 [o] By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac; and he that had received the promises, offered up his only-begotten son,

18 [p] Of whom it was said, That in Isaac shall thy seed be called:

19 [q] Accounting that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead; from whence also he received him in a figure.

20 [r] By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.

21 [s] By faith Jacob, when he was a dying, blessed both the sons of Joseph; and worshipped, leaning upon the top of his staff.

22 [t] By faith Joseph, when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel; and gave commandment concerning his bones.

23 [u] By faith Moses, when he was born, was hid three months of his parents, because they saw he was a proper child; and they were not ‖ afraid of the king's commandment.

24 [x] By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter:

25 Choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season;

26 [y] Esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompense of the reward.

27 [z] By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king: for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible.

28 [a] Through faith he kept the passover, and the sprinkling of blood, lest he that destroyed the firstborn should touch them.

29 [b] By faith they passed through the Red Sea as by dry land: which the Egyptians assaying to do, were drowned.

30 [c] By faith the walls of Jericho fell down, after they were compassed about seven days.

31 [d] By faith the harlot Rahab perished not with them that believed not, when she had received the spies with peace.

32 [e] And what shall I more say? for the time would fail me to tell of Gedeon, and of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jephthae; of David also, and Samuel, and of the prophets;

33 [f] Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions,

34 [g] Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens.

35 [h] Women received their dead raised to life again: and others were tortured, not accepting deliverance; that they might obtain a better resurrection:

36 [i] And others had trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover, of bonds and imprisonment:

37 [k] They were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword: they wandered about in sheep-skins and goat-skins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented;

38 [l] (Of whom the world was not worthy:) they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth.

39 [m] And these all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise;

40 [n] God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect.

CHAPTER XII.

1 An exhortation to patience and constancy; 14 to follow peace and holiness....25 The danger of refusing the word.

[a] WHEREFORE, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us,

2 [b] Looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith; who, for the joy that was set before him, endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.

3 [c] For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds.

4 [d] Ye have not yet resisted unto blood, striving against sin.

5 [e] And ye have forgotten the exhortation, which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him:

6 [f] For whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth.

7 [g] If ye endure chastening, God dealeth with you as with sons, for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not?

8 [h] But if ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.

9 [i] Furthermore, we have had fathers of our flesh, which corrected us; and we gave them reverence: shall we not much rather be in subjection unto the Father of spirits, and live?

10 [k] For they verily for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure; but he for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness.

11 [l] Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless, afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby.

12 [m] Wherefore lift up the hands which hang down, and the feeble knees:

13 [n] And make straight paths for your feet, lest that which is lame be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed.

14 [o] Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord:

15 [p] Looking diligently, lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled;

16 [q] Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person, as Esau, who for one morsel of meat sold his birthright.

17 [r] For ye know how that afterward, when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with tears.

18 [s] For ye are not come unto the mount that might be touched, and that burned with fire, nor unto blackness, and darkness, and tempest,

19 [t] And the sound of a trumpet, and the voice of words; which voice they that heard, entreated that the word should not be spoken to them any more:

20 [u] (For they could not endure that which was commanded, And if so much as a beast touch the mountain, it shall be stoned, or thrust through with a dart.

21 And so terrible was the sight, that Moses said, I exceedingly fear and quake:)

22 [x] But ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels,

23 [y] To the general assembly and church of the first-born, which are written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect,

24 [z] And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel.

25 [a] See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven:

26 [b] Whose voice then shook the earth: but now he hath promised, saying, Yet once more I shake not the earth only, but also heaven.

27 [c] And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things that are shaken, as of things that are made, that those things which cannot be shaken may remain.

28 [d] Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear:

29 [e] For our God is a consuming fire.

CHAPTER XIII.

1 Exhortations to charity, 2 to hospitality, 3 pity to the afflicted, 4 chastity, 5 contentment, 7 to regard God's preachers, 9 to avoid strange doctrines, &c.

[z] LET brotherly love continue.

2 [b] Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares.

3 [c] Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body.

4 [d] Marriage is honourable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge.

5 [e] Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee nor forsake thee.

6 [f] So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me.

7 [g] Remember them which have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation:

8 [h] Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to-day, and for ever.

9 [i] Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines: for it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein.

10 [k] We have an altar, whereof they have no right to eat which serve the tabernacle.

11 [l] For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned without the camp.

12 [m] Wherefore Jesus also that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate.

13 [n] Let us go forth therefore unto him, without the camp, bearing his reproach:

14 [o] For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come.

15 [p] By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips, giving thanks to his name.

16 [q] But to do good, and to communicate, forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased.

17 [r] Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account; that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you.

18 [s] Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly.

19 [t] But I beseech you the rather to do this, that I may be restored to you the sooner.

20 [u] Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant,

21 [x] Make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well-pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

22 And I beseech you, brethren, suffer the word of exhortation: for I have written a letter unto you in few words.

23 [y] Know ye that our brother Timothy is set at liberty; with whom, if he come shortly, I will see you.

24 Salute all them that have the rule over you, and all the saints. They of Italy salute you.

25 Grace be with you all. Amen.

¶ Written to the Hebrews from Italy by Timothy.

CHAPTER I.

1 The Apostle's address: he exhorteth to patience in affliction, 6 to pray in faith....14 Our lusts tempt us to sin.

[a] JAMES, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

2 [b] My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations,

3 [c] Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience.

4 But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.

5 [d] If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.

6 But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering: For

he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.

7 For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.

8 A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways.

9 [c] Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted;

10 [f] But the rich in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away.

11 For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it withereth the grass, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the fashion of it perisheth: so also shall the rich man fade away in his ways.

12 [g] Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

13 [h] Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man

14 But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed.

15 [i] Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin; and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death.

16 Do not err, my beloved brethren.

17 [k] Every good gift, and every perfect gift, is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.

18 [l] Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures.

19 [m] Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath:

20 [n] For the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God.

21 [o] Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls.

22 [p] But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.

23 [q] For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass:

24 For he beholdeth himself and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.

25 [r] But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed.

26 [s] If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain.

27 [t] Pure religion, and undefiled before God and the Father, is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.

CHAPTER II.

1 We must not regard the rich, and despise the poor....10 The guilt of any one breach of the law....17 Faith without works is dead.

[a] MY brethren, have not the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with respect of persons.

2 For if there come unto your assembly a man with a gold ring, in goodly apparel; and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment;

3 [b] And ye have respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say unto him, Sit thou here in a good place; and say to the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool

4 [c] Are ye not then partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts?

5 [d] Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world, rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?

6 [e] But ye have despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment-seats?

7 Do not they blaspheme that worthy name by the which ye are called?

8 [f] If ye fulfil the royal law, according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well:

9 [g] But if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors.

10 [h] For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all.

11 [i] For he that said, Do not commit adultery, said also, Do not kill. Now if thou commit no adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law.

12 [k] So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty.

13 [l] For he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath shewed no mercy, and mercy rejoiceth against judgment.

14 [m] What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? Can faith save him?

15 [n] If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food,

16 And one of you say unto them, Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled; notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body; what doth it profit?

17 Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone.

18 Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: shew me thy faith without thy works, and I will shew thee my faith by my works.

19 [o] Thou believest that there is one God; thou doest well: the devils also believe, and tremble.

20 But wilt thou know, O vain man, that faith without works is dead?

21 [p] Was not Abraham our father justified by works, when he had offered Isaac his son upon the altar?

22 [q] Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect?

23 [r] And the scripture was fulfilled, which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called the Friend of God.

24 Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only.

25 [s] Likewise also was not Rahab the harlot justified by works, when she had received the messengers, and had sent them out another way?

26 For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.

CHAPTER III.

1 We must not rashly or arrogantly reprove others....2 The importance of governing the tongue....13 How true wisdom will manifest itself, in opposition to strife and envy.

[a] MY brethren, be not many masters, knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation.

2 [b] For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body.

3 [c] Behold, we put bits in the horses' mouths, that they may obey us; and we turn about their whole body.

4 [d] Behold also the ships, which though they be so great, and are driven of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small helm, whithersoever the governor listeth.

5 Even so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things. Behold, how great a matter a little fire kindleth!

6 [e] And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell.

7 For every kind of beasts, and of birds, and of serpents, and things in the sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed of mankind:

8 [f] But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

9 [g] Therewith bless we God, even the Father; and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God.

10 Out of the same mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not so to be.

11 Doth a fountain send forth at the same † place sweet water and bitter?

12 Can the fig-tree, my brethren, bear olive-berries? either a vine, figs? so can no fountain both yield salt water and fresh.

13 [h] Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him shew out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom.

14 [i] But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth.

15 [k] This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish.

16 [l] For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work.

17 [m] But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy.

18 [n] And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace.

CHAPTER IV.

1 Our evil lusts cause contention: 7 how we may overcome them, and gain God's favour.

[a] FROM whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members?

2 [b] Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not.

3 [c] Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts.

4 [d] Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world, is the enemy of God.

5 [e] Do ye think that the scripture saith in vain, The spirit that dwelleth in us lusteth to envy?

6 [f] But he giveth more grace: wherefore he saith, God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble.

7 [g] Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

8 [h] Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners: and purify your hearts, ye double-minded.

9 [i] Be afflicted, and mourn, and weep: let your laughter be turned to mourning, and your joy to heaviness.

10 [k] Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up.

11 [l] Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge.

12 [m] There is one Lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?

13 [n] Go to now, ye that say, To-day or to-morrow we will go into such a city, and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain:

14 [o] Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow: for what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away.

15 [p] For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that.

16 [q] But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil.

17 [r] Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.

CHAPTER V.

1 Wicked rich men warned of God's judgments....7 Of patience. 13 To pray in adversity.

[a] GO to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you.

2 [b] Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten.

3 [c] Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days.

4 [d] Behold, the hire of the labourers which have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth: and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth.

5 [e] Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton; ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter.

6 [f] Ye have condemned and killed the just: and he doth not resist you.

7 [g] Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain.

8 [h] Be ye also patient; establish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh.

9 [i] Grudge not one against another, brethren, lest ye be condemned: behold, the Judge standeth before the door.

10 [k] Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience.

11 [l] Behold, we count them happy which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy.

12 [m] But above all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, neither by the earth, neither by any other oath: but let your yea be yea, and your nay, nay; lest ye fall into condemnation.

¶ The First Epistle General of PETER.

CHAPTER I.

1 The apostle's address: 3 he blesseth God for their hope of a blessed immortality: 10 he sheweth that their salvation in Christ had been foretold by the prophets of old, &c.

[a] PETER, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bythinia,

2 [b] Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you and peace be multiplied.

3 [c] Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 [d] To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you,

5 [e] Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, ready to be revealed in the last time:

6 [f] Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations:

7 [g] That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise, and honour, and glory, at the appearing of Jesus Christ:

8 [h] Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory:

9 [i] Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.

10 [k] Of which salvation the prophets have inquired and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you:

11 [l] Searching what, or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify, when it testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow.

12 [m] Unto whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto us, they did minister the things which are now reported unto you by them that have preached the gospel unto you, with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven; which things the angels desire to look into.

13 [n] Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ;

14 [o] As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance:

15 [p] But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation;

16 [q] Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy.

17 [r] And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear:

18 [s] Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers;

19 [t] But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot:

20 [u] Who verily was fore-ordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you;

21 [x] Who by him do believe in God, that raised him up from the dead, and gave him glory, that your faith and hope might be in God.

22 [y] Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently:

23 [z] Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever.

24 [a] For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away:

25 But the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you.

CHAPTER II.

1 He inciteth them against uncharitableness; 4 he sheweth their privileges through Christ the chief corner-stone: 11 he beseecheth them to abstain from fleshly lusts, &c.

[a] WHEREFORE, laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings,

2 As new-born babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby:

3 [b] If so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious:

4 [c] To whom coming, as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious,

5 [d] Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.

6 [e] Wherefore also it is contained in the scripture, Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner-stone, elect, precious: and he that believeth on him shall not be confounded:

7 [f] Unto you therefore which believe, he is precious: but unto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner,

8 [g] And a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient: whereunto also they were appointed.

9 [h] But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light:

10 [i] Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God: which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

11 [k] Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul;

12 [l] Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that whereas they speak against you as evil doers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation.

13 [m] Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake; whether it be to the king, as supreme;

14 [n] Or unto governors, as unto them that are sent by him for the punishment of evil doers, and for the praise of them that do well.

15 [o] For so is the will of God, that with well-doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men;

16 [p] As free, and not using your liberty for a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God.

17 [q] Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king.

18 [r] Servants, be subject to your masters with all fear; not only to the good and gentle, but also to the froward.

19 [s] For this is thank-worthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully.

20 [t] For what glory is it, if, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? but if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God.

21 [u] For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps:

22 [x] Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth:

23 [y] Who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously:

24 [z] Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed.

25 [a] For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls.

CHAPTER III.

1 He teacheth the duty of wives and husbands, 8 exhorting all men to unity and love, 14 and to suffer boldly for righteousness' sake.

[a] LIKEWISE, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation of the wives;

2 While they behold your chaste conversation coupled with fear.

3 [b] Whose adorning, let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel;

4 [c] But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price.

5 For after this manner, in the old time, the holy women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in subjection unto their own husbands:

6 [d] Even as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord: whose daughters ye are, as long as ye do well, and are not afraid with any amazement.

7 [e] Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered.

8 [f] Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another; love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous:

9 [g] Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing; but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing.

10 [h] For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile:

11 [i] Let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it.

12 [k] For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil.

13 [l] And who is he that will harm you, if ye be followers of that which is good?

14 [m] But and if ye suffer for righteousness' sake, happy are ye: and be not afraid of their terror, neither be troubled;

15 [n] But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts; and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear:

16 [o] Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evil doers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ.

17 For it is better, if the will of God be so, that ye suffer for well-doing than for evil-doing.

18 [p] For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit:

19 [q] By which also he went and preached unto the spirits in prison;

20 [r] Which sometime were disobedient, when once the long-suffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is eight souls, were saved by water.

21 [s] The like figure whereunto, even baptism, doth also now save us (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God,) by the resurrection of Jesus Christ:

22 [t] Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels, and authorities, and powers being made subject unto him.

CHAPTER IV.

1 He exhorteth them to cease from sin by the example of Christ....7 By the approaching end of all things he exhorteth them to sobriety, charity, &c.

[a] FORASMUCH then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sin;

2 [b] That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.

3 [c] For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries:

4 [d] Wherein they think it strange that ye run not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you:

5 [e] Who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead.

6 [f] For, for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.

7 [g] But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer.

8 [h] And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins.

9 [i] Use hospitality one to another, without grudging.

10 [k] As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

11 [l] If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ; to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

12 [m] Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you:

13 [n] But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.

14 [o] If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified.

15 [p] But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evil-doer, or as a busybody in other men's matters.

16 [q] Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.

17 [r] For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?

18 [s] And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?

19 [t] Wherefore, let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit the keeping of their souls to him in well-doing, as unto a faithful Creator.

CHAPTER V.

1 The elders exhorted to feed the flock of Christ; 5 the younger to obey the elder; 8 and all to be sober, watchful, and steadfast in the faith, resisting the devil, &c.

[a] THE elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed:

2 [b] Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind;

3 [c] Neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being ensamples to the flock.

4 [d] And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away.

5 [e] Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder: yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.

6 [f] Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time:

7 [g] Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you.

8 [h] Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about seeking whom he may devour:

9 [i] Whom resist, steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world.

10 [k] But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you:

11 [l] To him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

12 [m] By Silvanus, a faithful brother unto you, as I suppose, I have written briefly, exhorting, and testifying that this is the true grace of God wherein ye stand.

13 [n] The church that is at Babylon, elected together with you, saluteth you; and so doth Marcus my son.

14 [o] Greet ye one another with a kiss of charity. Peace be with you all that are in Christ Jesus. Amen.

¶ The Second Epistle general of PETER.

CHAPTER I.

Peter, saluting the Christians, admonisheth them of the gifts and promises of the gospel, &c.

[a] SIMON Peter, a servant and an apostle of Jesus Christ, to them that have obtained like precious faith with us through the righteousness of God and our Saviour Jesus Christ:

2 [b] Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord,

3 [c] According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue:

4 [d] Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises; that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

5 [e] And besides this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge;

6 And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness,

7 [f] And to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity.

8 [g] For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 [h] But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

10 [i] Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall:

11 For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

12 [k] Wherefore I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though ye know them, and be established in the present truth.

13 [l] Yea, I think it meet, as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up, by putting you in remembrance;

14 [m] Knowing that shortly I must put off this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Jesus Christ hath shewed me.

15 [n] Moreover, I will endeavour that ye may be able after my decease to have these things always in remembrance.

16 [o] For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eye-witnesses of his majesty.

17 [p] For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

18 [q] And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were with him in the holy mount.

19 [r] We have also a more sure word of prophecy: whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day-star arise in your hearts:

20 [s] Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation.

21 [t] For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

CHAPTER II.

He foretelleth them of false teachers, shewing the impiety and punishment of them and their followers, &c.

[a] BUT there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction.

2 And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.

3 [b] And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not.

4 [c] For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment;

5 [d] And spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly;

6 [e] And turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrha into ashes, condemned them with an overthrow, making them an ensample unto those that after should live ungodly;

7 [f] And delivered just Lot, vexed with the filthy conversation of the wicked:

8 [g] (For that righteous man dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds:)

9 [h] The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished:

10 [i] But chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government: presumptuous are they, self-willed; they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities.

11 [k] Whereas angels, which are greater in power and might, bring not railing accusation against them before the Lord.

12 [l] But these, as natural brute beasts, made to be taken and destroyed, speak evil of the things that they understand not; and shall utterly perish in their own corruption:

13 [m] And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot in the daytime. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings, while they feast with you;

14 [n] Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: a heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children:

15 [o] Which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness;

16 But was rebuked for his iniquity: the dumb ass, speaking with man's voice, forbade the madness of the prophet.

17 [p] These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever.

18 [q] For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error.

19 [r] While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage.

20 [s] For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world, through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning.

21 [t] For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them.

22 [u] But it is happened unto them according to the true proverb, The dog is turned to his own vomit again; and, The sow that was washed, to her wallowing in the mire.

CHAPTER III.

1 The certainty of Christ's coming to judgment....11 An exhortation to godliness.

[a] THIS second epistle, beloved, I now write unto you; in both which I stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance:

2 [b] That ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Saviour:

3 [c] Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts,

4 [d] And saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation.

5 [e] For this they willingly are ignorant of, that by the word of God the heavens were of old, and the earth standing out of the water and in the water:

6 [f] Whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water, perished:

7 [g] But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men.

8 [h] But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.

9 [i] The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.

10 [k] But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat; the earth also, and the works that are therein, shall be burned up.

11 Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness;

12 [l] Looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens, being on fire, shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?

13 [m] Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness.

14 [n] Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless:

15 [o] And account that the long-suffering of our Lord is salvation; even as our beloved brother Paul also, according to the wisdom given unto him, hath written unto you;

16 [p] As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction.

17 [q] Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness:

18 [r] But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory, both now and for ever. Amen.

¶ The First Epistle general of JOHN.

CHAPTER I.

1 He declareth what he had seen and known of the Word of life....5 The necessity of holiness, in order to fellowship with God.

a THAT which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, of the Word of life;

2 [b] (For the Life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and shew unto you that eternal Life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us;)

3 [c] That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.

4 [d] And these things write we unto you, that your joy may be full.

5 [e] This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all.

6 [f] If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth:

7 [g] But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin.

8 [h] If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

9 [i] If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

10 If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

CHAPTER II.

1 Christ our advocate and propitiation....3 To know God aright is to keep his commandments, and love our brethren....18 To beware of seducers.

a MY little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous:

2 [b] And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world.

3 And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments.

4 [c] He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.

5 [d] But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily is the love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in him.

6 [e] He that saith he abideth in him, ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked.

7 [f] Brethren, I write no new commandment unto you, but an old commandment, which ye had from the beginning. The old commandment is the word which ye have heard from the beginning.

8 [g] Again, a new commandment I write unto you; which thing is true in him and in you: because the darkness is past, and the true light now shineth.

9 [h] He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now.

10 [i] He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him.

11 [k] But he that hateth his brother, is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes.

12 [l] I write unto you, little children, because your sins are forgiven you for his name's sake.

13 [m] I write unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I write unto you, young men, because ye have overcome the wicked one. I write unto you, little children, because ye have known the Father.

14 [n] I have written unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome the wicked one.

15 [o] Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.

17 [p] And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever.

18 [q] Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 [r] They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us.

20 [s] But ye have an unction from the Holy One, and ye know all things.

21 I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.

22 [t] Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son.

23 [u] Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father: [but he that acknowledgeth the Son, hath the Father also.]

24 [x] Let that therefore abide in you which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father.

25 And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life.

26 [y] These things have I written unto you concerning them that seduce you.

27 [z] But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you: and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him.

28 [a] And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming.

29 [b] If ye know that he is righteous, ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is born of him.

CHAPTER III.

1 He declareth the singular love of God toward us in making us his sons; 3 we therefore ought obediently to keep his commandments, &c.

[a] BEHOLD, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God! therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not.

2 [b] Beloved, now are we the sons of God; and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is.

3 [c] And every man that hath this hope in him, purifieth himself, even as he is pure.

4 [d] Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law.

5 [e] And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin.

6 [f] Whosoever abideth in him sinneth not: whosoever sinneth, hath not seen him, neither known him.

7 [g] Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness, is righteous even as he is righteous.

8 [h] He that committeth sin, is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil.

9 [i] Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God.

10 [k] In this the children of God are manifest, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness, is not of God, neither he that loveth not his brother.

11 [l] For this is the message that ye heard from the beginning, that we should love one another.

12 [m] Not as Cain, who was of that wicked one, and slew his brother. And wherefore slew he him? Because his own works were evil, and his brother's righteous.

13 [n] Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you.

14 [o] We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 [p] Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him.

16 [q] Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.

17 [r] But whoso hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?

18 [s] My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth.

19 [t] And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before him.

20 For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 [u] Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we confidence toward God:

22 [x] And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight.

23 [y] And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment.

24 [z] And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us.

CHAPTER IV.

1 He warneth them not to believe all teachers who boast of the Spirit, but to try them by the rules of the catholic faith; 7 and by many reasons exhorteth to brotherly love.

[a] BELOVED, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world.

2 [b] Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is of God:

3 [c] And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world.

4 [d] Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.

5 [e] They are of the world: therefore speak they of the world, and the world heareth them.

6 [f] We are of God: he that knoweth God, heareth us; he that is not of God, heareth not us. Hereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

7 [g] Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth, is born of God, and knoweth God.

8 [h] He that loveth not, knoweth not God; for God is love.

9 [i] In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.

10 [k] Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.

11 [l] Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

12 [m] No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us.

13 [n] Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit.

14 [o] And we have seen, and do testify, that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world.

15 [p] Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God.

16 [q] And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.

17 [r] Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world.

18 There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear; because fear hath torment. He that feareth, is not made perfect in love.

19 We love him, because he first loved us.

20 [s] If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?

21 [t] And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also.

CHAPTER V.

1 He that loveth God loveth his children, and keepeth his commandments....4 True faith will overcome the world....11 Believers have eternal life through Christ; 18 they are distinguished from the world by abstaining from sin, and by a right knowledge of God.

a WHOSOEVER believeth that Jesus is the Christ, is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat, loveth him also that is begotten of him.

2 [b] By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep his commandments.

3 [c] For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous.

4 [d] For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.

5 [e] Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?

6 [f] This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth.

7 [g] For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one.

8 [h] And there are three that bear witness in earth, the spirit, and the water, and the blood: and these three agree in one.

9 [i] If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for this is the witness of God, which he hath testified of his Son.

10 [k] He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God, hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son.

11 [l] And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.

12 [m] He that hath the Son, hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God, hath not life.

13 [n] These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God.

14 [o] And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us:

15 And if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him.

16 [p] If any man see his brother sin a sin which is not unto death, he shall ask, and he shall give him life for them that sin not unto death. There is a sin unto death: I do not say that he shall pray for it.

17 [q] All unrighteousness is sin: and there is a sin not unto death.

18 [r] We know that whosoever is born of God sinneth not; but he that is begotten of God keepeth himself, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 [s] And we know that we are of God, and the whole world lieth in wickedness.

20 [t] And we know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true: and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God, and eternal life.

21 [u] Little children, keep yourselves from idols. Amen.

A. D. 90.

1 He testifieth his regard for a certain pious matron and her children; 5 he exhorteth them to persevere in Christian love and belief, that they lose not their full reward; 10 and to have nothing to do with seducers.

a THE elder unto the elect lady and her children, whom I love in the truth; and not I only, but also all they that have known the truth;

2 [b] For the truth's sake which dwelleth in us, and shall be with us for ever.

3 [c] Grace be with you, mercy, and peace, from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.

4 [d] I rejoiced greatly that I found of thy children walking in truth, as we have received a commandment from the Father.

5 [e] And now I beseech thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another.

6 [f] And this is love, that we walk after his commandments. This is the commandment, That (as ye have heard from the beginning) ye should walk in it.

7 [g] For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist.

8 [h] Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward.

9 [i] Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God: He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son.

10 [k] If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed:

11 For he that biddeth him God speed, is partaker of his evil deeds.

12 [l] Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with paper and ink: but I trust to come unto you, and speak face to face, that our joy may be full.

¶ The Third Epistle of JOHN.

1 He commendeth Gaius for his piety, 5 and hospitality to true preachers; 9 he censureth Diotrephes, and threateneth him for his ambitious opposition, 11 whose evil example is not to be followed.

A. D. 90.

[a] THE elder unto the well-beloved Gaius, whom I love in the truth.

2 Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth.

3 [b] For I rejoiced greatly when the brethren came and testified of the truth that is in thee, even as thou walkest in the truth.

4 [c] I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth.

5 Beloved, thou doest faithfully whatsoever thou doest to the brethren and to strangers;

6 Which have borne witness of thy charity before the church: whom if thou bring forward on their journey after a godly sort, thou shalt do well:

7 [d] Because that for his name's sake they went forth, taking nothing of the Gentiles.

8 [e] We therefore ought to receive such, that we might be fellow-helpers to the truth.

9 I wrote unto the church: but Diotrephes, who loveth to have the pre-eminence among them, receiveth us not.

10 Wherefore, if I come, I will remember his deeds which he doeth, prating against us with malicious words: and not content therewith, neither doth he himself receive the brethren, and forbiddeth them that would, and casteth them out of the church.

11 [f] Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God: but he that doeth evil hath not seen God.

12 [g] Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth itself. yea, and we also bear record; and ye know that our record is true.

13 [h] I had many things to write, but I will not with ink and pen write unto thee:

14 But I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speak face to face. Peace be to thee. Our friends salute thee. Greet the friends by name.

¶ The General Epistle of JUDE.

1 Jude exhorteth Christians to constancy in the received faith; 4 he foretelleth the punishment of certain false teachers, &c.

A. D. cir. 66.

[a] JUDE, the servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to them that are sanctified by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ, and called:

2 Mercy unto you, and peace, and love, be multiplied.

3 [b] Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints.

4 [c] For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation; ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 [d] I will therefore put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not.

6 [e] And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains, under darkness, unto the judgment of the great day.

7 [f] Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them, in like manner giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.

8 [g] Likewise also these filthy dreamers defile the flesh, despise dominion, and speak evil of dignities.

9 [h] Yet Michael the archangel, when contending with the devil, he disputed about the body of Moses, durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 [i] But these speak evil of those things which they know not: but what they know naturally, as brute beasts, in those things they corrupt themselves.

11 [k] Wo unto them! for they have gone in the way of Cain, and ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward, and perished in the gainsaying of Core.

12 [l] These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeding themselves without fear: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds; trees whose fruit withereth, without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots;

13 [m] Raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness for ever.

14 [n] And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousand of his saints,

15 [o] To execute judgment upon all; and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed,

23 [u] And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire; hating even the garment spotted by the flesh.

¶ The REVELATION of St. JOHN the Divine.

CHAPTER I.

4 John's salutation to the seven churches....7 The coming of Christ; 14 his glorious power and majesty.

A. D. 96.

a [THE] Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John:

2 [b] Who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw.

3 [c] Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.

4 [d] JOHN to the seven churches in Asia: Grace be unto you, and peace, from him which is, and which was, and which is to come; and from the seven Spirits which are before his throne:

5 [e] And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first-begotten of the dead, and the Prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood,

6 [f] And hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

7 [g] Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him. Even so, Amen.

8 [h] I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty.

9 [i] I John, who also am your brother, and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was in the isle that is called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the testimony of Jesus Christ.

10 [k] I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet,

11 [l] Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: and, What thou seest, write in a book, and send it unto the seven churches which are in Asia; unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia, and unto Laodicea.

12 [m] And I turned to see the voice that spake with me. And being turned, I saw seven golden candlesticks;

13 [n] And in the midst of the seven candlesticks one like unto the Son of man, clothed with a garment down to the foot, and girt about the paps with a golden girdle.

14 [o] His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow; and his eyes were as a flame of fire;

15 [p] And his feet like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace; and his voice as the sound of many waters.

16 [q] And he had in his right hand seven stars; and out of his mouth went a sharp two-edged sword: and his countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength.

17 [r] And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not; I am the first and the last:

18 [s] I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of hell and of death.

19 [t] Write the things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter;

20 [u] The mystery of the seven stars which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks. The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches: and the seven candlesticks which thou sawest, are the seven churches.

CHAPTER II.

1 What John was commanded to write to the angels of the churches of Ephesus, 8 Smyrna, 12 Pergamos, 18 and Thyatira.

a [UNTO] the angel of the church of Ephesus write; These things saith he that holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, who walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks;

2 [b] I know thy works, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canst not bear them which are evil: and thou hast tried them which say they are apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars:

3 [c] And hast borne, and hast patience, and for my name's sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.

4 Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.

5 [d] Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen; and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent.

6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the deeds of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.

7 [e] He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God.

8 [f] And unto the angel of the church in Smyrna

write; These things saith the first and the last, which was dead, and is alive;

9 [g] I know thy works, and tribulation, and poverty, (but thou art rich,) and I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the synagogue of Satan.

10 [h] Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried: and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.

11 [i] He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death.

12 [k] And to the angel of the church in Pergamos write; These things saith he which hath the sharp sword with two edges;

13 [l] I know thy works, and where thou dwellest, even where Satan's seat is: and thou holdest fast my name, and hast not denied my faith, even in those days wherein Antipas was my faithful martyr, who was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth

14 [m] But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to cast a stumbling-block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed unto idols, and to commit fornication.

15 [n] So hast thou also them that hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate.

16 [o] Repent; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 [p] He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the hidden manna, and will give him a white stone, and in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it.

18 [q] And unto the angel of the church in Thyatira write; These things saith the Son of God, who hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire, and his feet are like fine brass;

19 [r] I know thy works, and charity, and service, and faith, and thy patience, and thy works; and the last to be more than the first.

20 [s] Notwithstanding, I have a few things against thee, because thou sufferest that woman Jezebel, which calleth herself a prophetess, to teach and to seduce my servants to commit fornication, and to eat things sacrificed unto idols.

21 And I gave her space to repent of her fornication; and she repented not.

22 Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit adultery with her into great tribulation, except they repent of their deeds.

23 [t] And I will kill her children with death; and all the churches shall know that I am he which searcheth the reins and hearts; and I will give unto every one of you according to your works.

24 But unto you I say, and unto the rest in Thyatira, as many as have not this doctrine, and which have not known the depths of Satan, as they speak; I will put upon you none other burden:

25 [u] But that which ye have already, hold fast till I come.

26 [x] And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations:

27 [y] (And he shall rule them with a rod of iron; as the vessels of a potter shall they be broken to shivers:) even as I received of my Father.

28 [z] And I will give him the morning star.

29 [a] He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

CHAPTER III.

1 What John was commanded to write to the angels of the churches of Sardis, 7 Philadelphia, 14 and Laodicea.

[a] AND unto the angel of the church in Sardis write; These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead.

2 [b] Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die: for I have not found thy works perfect before God.

3 Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard; and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee.

4 [c] Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy.

5 [d] He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels.

6 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

7 [e] And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write; These things saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of David, he that openeth, and no man shutteth; and shutteth, and no man openeth;

8 [f] I know thy works: behold, I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.

9 [g] Behold, I will make them of the synagogue of Satan, which say they are Jews, and are not, but do lie; behold, I will make them to come and worship before thy feet, and to know that I have loved thee.

10 [h] Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.

11 [i] Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown.

12 [k] Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God; and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name.

13 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

14 [l] And unto the angel of the church of the Laodiceans write; These things saith the Amen, the faithful and true Witness, the beginning of the creation of God:

15 [m] I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou wert cold or hot.

16 So then, because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth.

17 [n] Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked:

18 [o] I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eye-salve, that thou mayest see.

19 [p] As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent.

20 [q] Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

21 [r] To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne.

22 [s] He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

CHAPTER IV.

1 John seeth the throne of God in heaven....4 The four and twenty elders....6 The four beasts full of eyes before and behind, &c.

[a] AFTER this I looked, and, behold, a door was opened in heaven; and the first voice which I heard was as it were of a trumpet talking with me; which said, Come up hither, and I will shew thee things which must be hereafter.

2 [b] And immediately I was in the Spirit: and, behold, a throne was set in heaven, and one sat on the throne.

3 [c] And he that sat was to look upon like a jasper and a sardine-stone: and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in sight like unto an emerald.

4 And round about the throne were four and twenty seats: and upon the seats I saw four and twenty elders sitting, clothed in white raiment; and they had on their heads crowns of gold.

5 [d] And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thunderings, and voices: and there were seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven Spirits of God.

6 [e] And before the throne there was a sea of glass, like unto crystal: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne, were four beasts, full of eyes before and behind.

7 [f] And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calf, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying eagle.

8 [g] And the four beasts had each of them six wings about him; and they were full of eyes within: and they rest not day and night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come.

9 And when those beasts give glory, and honour, and thanks, to him that sat on the throne, who liveth for ever and ever,

10 [h] The four and twenty elders fall down before him that sat on the throne, and worship him that liveth for ever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying,

11 [i] Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory, and honour, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created.

CHAPTER V.

1 The book sealed with seven seals, which no man is worthy to open: 6 the Lamb openeth the book: the beasts and elders praise him.

[a] AND I saw in the right hand of him that sat on the throne a book written within and on the back side, sealed with seven seals.

2 [b] And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof?

3 [c] And no man in heaven, nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the book, neither to look thereon.

4 [d] And I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open and to read the book, neither to look thereon.

5 And one of the elders saith unto me, Weep not: behold, the Lion of the tribe of Juda, the Root of David, hath prevailed to open the book, and to loose the seven seals thereof.

6 [e] And I beheld, and lo, in the midst of the throne, and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb, as it had been slain, having seven horns, and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth.

7 And he came and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne.

8 [f] And when he had taken the book, the four beasts and four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one of them harps, and golden vials full of odours, which are the prayers of saints.

9 [g] And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood, out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation;

10 [h] And hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth.

11 [i] And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne, and the beasts, and the elders: and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands;

12 [k] Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing.

13 [l] And every creature which is in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and such as are in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, Blessing, honour, glory, and power, be unto him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb for ever and ever.

14 [m] And the four beasts said, Amen. And the four and twenty elders fell down and worshipped him that liveth for ever and ever.

CHAPTER VI.

The opening of six of the seals in order, and what followed thereupon.

[a] AND I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seals; and I heard, as it were the noise of thunder, one of the four beasts, saying, Come and see.

2 [b] And I saw, and behold a white horse; and he that sat on him had a bow; and a crown was given unto him: and he went forth conquering, and to conquer.

3 And when he had opened the second seal, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.

4 And there went out another horse that was red: and power was given to him that sat thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another: and there was given unto him a great sword.

5 And when he had opened the third seal, I heard the third beast say, Come and see. And I beheld, and lo, a black horse; and he that sat on him had a pair of balances in his hand.

[a] AND after these things I saw four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, nor on the sea, nor on any tree.

2 And I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God: and he cried with a loud voice to the four angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea,

3 [b] Saying, Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of them which were sealed: and there were sealed a hundred and forty and four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.

12 Saying, Amen: Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen.

13 And one of the elders answered, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they?

6 And the seven angels which had the seven trumpets prepared themselves to sound.

7 The first angel sounded, and there followed hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast upon the earth: and the third part of trees was burnt up, and all green grass was burnt up.

Anno DOMINI 96.

8 And the second angel sounded, and as it were a great mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea: and the third part of the sea became blood;

9 And the third part of the creatures which were in the sea, and had life, died; and the third part of the ships were destroyed.

10 And the third angel sounded, and there fell a great star from heaven, burning as it were a lamp, and it fell upon the third part of the rivers, and upon the fountains of waters;

11 And the name of the star is called Wormwood: and the third part of the waters became wormwood; and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth angel sounded, and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon, and the third part of the stars; so as the third part of them was darkened, and the day shone not for a third part of it, and the night likewise.

13 And I beheld, and heard an angel flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, Wo, wo, wo to the inhabiters of the earth by reason of the other voices of the trumpet of the three angels, which are yet to sound.

CHAPTER IX.

1 At the sounding of the fifth angel, a star falleth from heaven, to whom is given the key of the bottomless pit: 2 he openeth the pit, and there come forth locusts like scorpions: 12 the first wo is past, &c.

[a] Luke 8, 31. chap. 17, 8. & 20, 1.

[a] AND the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth: and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit.

2 And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke locusts upon the earth: and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.

21 Neither repented they of their murders, nor of their sorceries, nor of their fornication, nor of their thefts.

10 And I took the little book out of the angel's hand, and ate it up; and it was in my mouth sweet as honey: and as soon as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 And he said unto me, Thou must prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, and kings.

CHAPTER XIII.

1 A beast riseth out of the sea with seven heads and ten horns. 11 Another beast cometh up out of the earth, which supporteth the worship of the former beast.

[a] AND I stood upon the sand of the sea, and saw a beast rise up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns, and upon his horns ten crowns, and upon his heads the name of blasphemy.

2 [b] And the beast which I saw was like unto a leopard, and his feet were as the feet of a bear, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gave him his power, and his seat, and great authority.

3 [c] And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death; and his deadly wound was healed: and all the world wondered after the beast.

4 [d] And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast: and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast? who is able to make war with him?

5 [e] And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies; and power was given unto him to continue forty and two months.

6 And he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heaven.

7 [f] And it was given unto him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them: and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations.

8 [g] And all that dwell upon the earth shall worship him, whose names are not written in the book of life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.

9 [h] If any man have an ear, let him hear.

10 [i] He that leadeth into captivity, shall go into captivity: he that killeth with the sword, must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints.

11 [k] And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon.

12 [l] And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

13 [m] And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men,

14 [n] And deceiveth them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live.

15 And he had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed

16 [o] And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads:

17 [p] And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.

18 [q] Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man; and his number is six hundred threescore and six.

CHAPTER XIV.

1 The Lamb standing on mount Sion with his company, 6 an angel preacheth the gospel; 8 another proclaimeth the fall of Babylon, 15 the harvest of the world, &c.

[a] AND I looked, and lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him a hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads.

2 [b] And I heard a voice from heaven, as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers harping with their harps:

3 [c] And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the elders: and no man could learn that song but the hundred and forty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth.

4 [d] These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb.

5 [e] And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God.

6 And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people,

7 [f] Saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters.

8 [g] And there followed another angel, saying, Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication.

9 [h] And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand,

10 [i] The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb:

11 [k] And the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the mark of his name.

12 [l] Here is the patience of the saints; here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus.

13 [m] And I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them.

14 [m] And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

15 [n] And he that talked with me had a golden reed to measure the city, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

16 [o] And the city lieth four-square, and the length is as large as the breadth; and he measured the city with the reed, ‖ twelve thousand furlongs. The length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equal.

17 And he measured the wall thereof, a hundred and forty and four cubits, according to the measure of a man, that is, of the angel.

18 And the building of the wall of it was of jasper; and the city was pure gold, like unto clear glass.

19 [p] And the foundations of the wall of the city were garnished with all manner of precious stones. The first foundation was jasper; the second, sapphire; the third, a chalcedony; the fourth, an emerald;

20 The fifth, sardonyx; the sixth, sardius; the seventh, chrysolite; the eighth, beryl; the ninth, a topaz; the tenth, a chrysoprasus; the eleventh, a jacinth; the twelfth, an amethyst.

21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearls; every several gate was of one pearl; and the street of the city was pure gold, as it were transparent glass.

22 And I saw no temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, are the temple of it.

23 [q] And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof.

24 [r] And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honour into it.

25 [s] And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day: for there shall be no night there.

26 And they shall bring the glory and honour of the nations into it.

27 [t] And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life.

CHAPTER XXII.

1 The river of the water of life....2 The tree of life....5 The light of the city of God is himself....9 The angel will not be worshipped....18 Nothing may be added to the word of God, nor taken therefrom.

[a] AND he shewed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb.

2 [b] In the midst of the street of it, and on either side of the river, was there the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations

3 [c] And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him.

4 [d] And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads.

5 [e] And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever.

6 [f] And he said unto me, These sayings are faithful and true; and the Lord God of the holy prophets sent his angel to shew unto his servants the things which must shortly be done.

7 [g] Behold, I come quickly: blessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the prophecy of this book.

8 [h] And I John saw these things, and heard them. And when I had heard and seen, I fell down to worship before the feet of the angel which shewed me these things.

9 Then saith he unto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow-servant, and of thy brethren the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book: worship God.

10 [i] And he saith unto me, Seal not the sayings of the prophecy of this book: for the time is at hand.

11 [k] He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 [l] And behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be.

13 [m] I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

14 [n] Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city.

15 [o] For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie.

16 [p] I Jesus have sent mine angel to testify unto you these things in the churches. I am the root and the offspring of David, and the bright and morning star.

17 [q] And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst, come: And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely.

18 [r] For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book:

19 [s] And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.

20 He which testifieth these things saith, Surely I come quickly; Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus.

21 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

	CV.	upon the Egyptians.

The fourth Age of the World.

	Exodus	UPON the fourteenth day of the first month, (which was May the fourth, upon
	XII. 11,	Monday with us) in the evening, the passover is instituted.
	29, 41.	Upon the fifteenth of the same month, at midnight, the first-born of Egypt being all slain, Pharaoh and his servants make haste to send away the Israelites; and they, the self-same day wherein they were let go out of bondage, being the complete term of 430 years from the first pilgrimage of their ancestors, reckoning from Abraham's departure out of Charran, take their journey, and march
	Numbers	away, being 600,000 men, besides children, and come to Rameses, from whence
	XXXIII.	by several encampings they come to the Red Sea, the Lord conducting them in a pillar of a cloud by day, and in a pillar of fire by night. They carry Joseph's bones with them.
	Exodus	At the Red Sea Pharaoh with his host overtakes them; Moses divides the
	XIV.	waters with his rod, and the children of Israel pass through on dry ground unto the desert of Etham; whom, when Pharaoh and his army would needs follow, they are all overwhelmed by the waters coming together at the dawning of the day, whereby the Israelites are wholly freed from the bondage of the Egyptians;
	XV.	whose carcases when they see floating all the sea over, and cast upon the shore, they sing a song of praise and thanksgiving unto God
	XVI.	Upon the fifteenth of the second month, (our June the 4th, being Thursday) the Israelites come to the wilderness of Zin, which lieth between Elyma and Sinai, where, for want of food, they murmur against God and their leaders; about the even-tide God sends them quails, and the next morning rains upon them manna from heaven; and upon that kind of bread they lived afterward by the space of forty years, even till they came to the borders of the land of promise. An omer of it is preserved for a memorial.
	XVII 1,	At Rephidim, which was the eleventh place of their encamping, the people murmur for want of water; Moses gives them water by striking the hard rock in Horeb with his rod.
	8, 9, &c.	The Amalekites falling upon the rear of the Israelites are discomfited by Joshua, whilst Moses holds up his hands to God in prayer.
	XX.	God publisheth his Law, contained in the Ten Commandments, with a terrible voice from mount Sinai.
	XXI.	The people being in great fear, God gives them sundry other laws, all which
	XXII. &c.	being written in the book of the covenant, Moses proposeth them to the people:
	XXIV.	which done, rising early in the morning, he builds an altar at the foot of the mountain, and sets up 12 statues, according to the 12 tribes of Israel, and sends 12 young men of the first-born, (whom the Lord hath consecrated to himself as ministers of those holy things, before the Levitical priesthood was ordained) which offer sacrifice, first for sin, and then for thanksgiving, to the Lord. and when Moses had read the book of the covenant, he takes the blood of the calves and goats so offered, and with water, scarlet wool, and hyssop, sprinkles the book therewith, and all the people, or those 12 statues representing them; and so performs a solemn covenant between God and his people.
	9, 18.	Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and 70 men of the elders of Israel, go up into the mount, and there behold the glory of God: the rest returning, Moses with his servant Joshua abides there still, and waits six days, and upon the seventh day God speaks unto him, and there he continues 40 days and 40 nights (reckoning those six days which he waited for the appearance of the Lord) eating no meat all that while, nor drinking water; (Deut. ix. 9.) where he receives
	XXV. &c.	God's command touching the frame of the tabernacle, the priests' garments, their consecration, sacrifices, and other things comprised in this and the six following chapters.
	XXXI. 18.	At the end of 40 days God gives Moses the two tables of the Law in stone, made by God's own hand, and written with his own finger; bidding him withal
	XXXII.	quickly to get him down, for that the people had already made to themselves a molten calf to worship. Moses by prayer pacifieth God, and goes down from the mount, and seeing the people keeping a festival in honour of their idol in the camp, he breaks the tables of the law at the foot of the mount: for which the Jews keep a solemn fast unto this day.
	20, 28.	Moses, having burnt and defaced the idol, puts 3000 of the idolaters to death by the hands of the Levites.
	XXXIV.	God commands Moses to frame new tables of stone, and to bring them with him into the mount: Moses brings them the next morning, and while he stands in the cleft of a rock, God passeth by, and sheweth him a glimpse of his glory.
	10.	God renews his covenant with his people, and upon certain conditions gives them his laws again.
1490.	XXXIX.	In the first six months of this year, the tabernacle, the ark of the covenant, the altar the table of shew-bread, the priests' garments, the holy ointments, the candlestick, and other utensils and vessels belonging to the sacrifices, are finished in the desert at mount Sinai, and are brought unto Moses.
	XL.	The tabernacle is set up and anointed with holy oil. Aaron and his sons are consecrated for the priesthood.
	Lev. X.	Nadab and Abihu, for offering strange fire, are struck dead in the place by fire from heaven.
	Num. VII.	The princes of the tribes present their offerings toward the dedication of the tabernacle. God speaketh to Moses from the mercy-seat.
	IX.	The second passover is instituted.
	X. 29.	Jethro, who is also called Hobab, brings his daughter Zipporah, with her two
	Exodus	sons, Gershom and Eliezer, which were left with him, to his son-in-law Moses:
	XVIII.	and having congratulated his and the whole people of Israel's deliverance out of bondage, he openly declares his faith and devotion toward the true God. By his advice Moses imparts the government of the people to some others, and ordains magistrates for the deciding of lesser causes.
	Numbers	Moses complains to God of the overgreat burden of his government; God, to
	XI.	ease him of his charge, gives him for assistance the court of 70 elders.
	31.	The people lust for flesh. God gives them quails in wrath; and sends withal a most grievous plague among them.
	XII.	God rebukes the sedition of Miriam and Aaron, and maintaineth Moses his right.
	XIII.	From the wilderness of Paran, near Kadesh-barnea, 12 men are sent (among whom are Caleb and Joshua) to discover the land of Canaan. Returning, they bring with them a branch of a vine, with a cluster of grapes upon it; ten of the twelve so sent speak ill of the country, declare it barren, and magnify the cities for their strength, and the giantly stature of the inhabitants.
	XIV.	The people, terrified with this relation, are about to return into Egypt, from which Caleb and Joshua endeavouring to dissuade them are like to be stoned
Before Christ		At this God is so provoked, that he threatens to destroy them; but is prevailed upon by Moses his prayers to spare them. Nevertheless he denounceth that all
1490.		who are now 20 years old and upward (except Caleb and Joshua) shall die in the wilderness. The men who raised the evil report are all destroyed by sudden death. Some, endeavouring to enter upon the promised land, contrary to the command of God, are smitten by the Amalekites and Canaanites.
1489.	Deut. I. 46.	In this place, viz. Kadesh-barnea, the Israelites continue many days; but that in some places they continued many years, appeareth, for that in the space of 37 years there are but 17 encampings mentioned.
	Numbers	To their long continuance in Kadesh, and the encampings from thence, all
	XXXIII.	that we find delivered in the 20th and four next ensuing chapters of Numbers,
1471.	XVI.	seems to refer; as how Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, for raising a mutiny against Moses and Aaron, were swallowed alive into the earth, and 250 of their associates; and how the people, murmuring against Moses and Aaron for the calamity which had befallen their brethren, were destroyed by God to the number of 14,700 men; and how 12 rods being brought by 12 princes, and laid in the
	XVII.	sanctuary, Aaron's rod only budded, and brought forth almonds, and was laid up before the ark, for a memorial to those who should afterward be given to rebellion.
1452.	XX.	In these 37 years, the Israelites, by 17 encampings, having compassed the hill country of Seir and Edom, they come to the wilderness of Zin in the first month of the 40th year after their departure out of Egypt.
	1,	Here Miriam, the sister of Moses and Aaron, dieth.
	2,	The people again for want of water murmur against Moses and Aaron, whom when God had commanded to call water out of the rock only by speaking to it,
	12,	Moses, being moved in his mind through impatience and diffidence of the thing, speaks something, whatever it was, unadvisedly with his lips, and strikes the rock thrice with Aaron's rod, and thereby draws water from it; but for transgressing God's command, they are both debarred from entering into the land of Canaan.
	23, 28.	In the fifth month of this year Aaron dieth at Mosera, on the top of mount Hor, at the age of 123 years, leaving his son Eleazar his successor in the high priesthood.
	XXI. 5, 9.	The people murmuring are plagued with fiery serpents, whereof many die,
	John	upon their repentance God commands that a brazen serpent be made and lifted
	III. 14.	up upon a pole, that as many as look on it may live.
	1 Cor.	About the latter end of this year, all those who at Kadesh-barnea mutinied
	X. 9.	against God, being wholly extinct and dead, the Israelites pass over Zared, and
	Numbers	come to the borders of Moab at Ar, and at length they arrive at Bamoth, a valley
	XXI.	in the country of the Moabites, and pitch at mount Pisgah.
	21,	Sihon, king of the Amorites, refusing them passage through his country, is slain, and the Israelites possess his land.
	33.	Og, the king of Bashan, coming out against Israel, is destroyed with all his people, not one left alive, and his country possessed by the Israelites.
1451.	Numbers	After these victories the Israelites set forward, and encamp in the plains of
	XXII. 1, 2,	Moab.
	3	Balak, king of Moab, considering what the Israelites had done to the Amorites, fears, lest, under pretence of passing through his country, they should possess themselves of his whole kingdom, takes counsel with the princes of the Midianites his neighbours, and sends for Balaam a soothsayer out of Mesopotamia to come and curse the Israelites, promising him great rewards for his labour,
	Joshua	purposing afterward to make war upon them.
	XXIV. 9.
	Numbers
	XXII. 7,	Balaam, forewarned of God, refuseth at first to come; but being sent for a
	35.	second time, he importuneth God to let him go, and goes with a purpose indeed
	2 Pet. II.	to curse Israel; but God, offended thereat, makes the dumb ass of this wizard,
	15, 16.	on which he rode, speaking in a man's voice, to reprove his folly.
	Numbers	Balaam twice offers sacrifice, and would fain have cursed Israel, to gratify
	XXIII.	Balak therein; but being forced thereto by the Spirit of God, instead of cursing, he blesseth them altogether; foretelling what felicity attended them, and
	Deut.	what calamities should befall their enemies.
	XXIII. 5.
	Joshua	By his advice the women of Moab and Midian are set on work to turn the
	XXIV. 10.	Israelites away to idolatry. Wherefore God commands Moses first to take all
	Numbers	the ringleaders of this disorder, and to hang them up before the sun, and then
	XXV.	gives order to the judges to put to death all such as had joined themselves to
	1, 2, 3, &c.	Baal-peor. Last of all, God sends a plague upon the people, whereof die 23,000
	Deut.	men in one day: which, added to them which were hanged and killed with the
	IV. 3.	sword, amount in all to 24,000.
	Psalm	Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, by killing Zimri, the chief of his father's family,
	CVI. 28.	and Cozbi the daughter of Zur, a prince of the Midianites, appeaseth the wrath
	Rev.	of God, and the plague ceaseth. God therefore settleth the high priesthood for
	II. 14.	ever upon the house of Phinehas, and commands that war be made upon the
	1 Cor.	Midianites.
	X. 8.
	Numbers	Moses and Eleazar, by God's command, in the plain of Moab, near unto Jordan,
	XXV.	over against Jericho, number the people from twenty years old and upwards,
	Psalm	and find them to be 601,730 men, besides the Levites, whose number, reckoning
	CVI. 30.	them from one month old and upwards, comes to 23,000; and then Moses receives
	Numbers	command for the parting the land of promise among the Israelites.
	XXV.	The daughters of Zelophehad have their father's land parted among them,
	13, 17.	for want of issue male; this occasions the law for succession in heritages to be made.
	XXVI.	God signifies to Moses that he shall die, and Joshua is thereupon declared to
	XXVII.	be his successor; upon whom Moses lays his hands, and gives him instructions.
	1, 2,	Several laws are made.
	12, 23.	Twelve thousand of the Israelites under the command of Phinehas vanquish
	Deut.	the Midianites, and put to the sword all the males among them, with their five
	III. 26,	princes, and among them Zur, the father of Cozbi, and Balaam the wizard; but
	27, 28.	they save the women alive; at which Moses is wroth, and commands that every
	Numbers	male child, and all the women, except such as be virgins, be killed.
	XXXI.	The lands which belonged to Sihon and Og, namely, all from the river Arnon
	Josh. XIII.	to mount Hermon, Moses divides and gives to the tribes of Reuben and Gad,
	21, 22.	and the half-tribe of Manasseh; so that their possessions lay on this side Jor-
	Numbers	dan; nevertheless, they assist the rest of the tribes in all their wars, till they
	XXXII.	have subdued the Canaanites, and possessed the promised land.
	Deut. III.
	Josh. XIII.	Moses commands the people, that in their passage over Jordan they shall set
	& XXII.	up great stones, and engrave the Ten Commandments on them, with the form
	Deut.	of blessing upon mount Gerizim, and of cursing on mount Ebal; exhorting them
	XXVII.	to observe the law of God, by setting before their eyes the benefits that would
	XXVIII.	ensue thereon.
	XXIX.	He also renews the covenant made by God with them and their children on mount Horeb, and again persuades them to keep that covenant by all the blessings
	XXX.	and curses which would undoubtedly follow the keepers or breakers of it; yet with a promise of pardon and deliverance, if at any time, having broken it, they shall repent them of their sin; and tells them further, that God had therefore thus declared his will unto them, to the end that none hereafter offending shall pretend ignorance.
	XXXI.	Moses, having written this law, delivers it to the priests the sons of Levi, and
	XXXII.	the elders of the people, to be kept; the same day also he writes his most excellent song, and teaches the same to the children of Israel to be sung; and having finished the book of the law, he takes order to have it laid up in the side of the ark.
	XXXIII.	Moses, now drawing near to his end, blesseth every tribe in particular by way of prophecy, save only the tribe of Simeon.
	XXXIV.	In the 12th month of this year he goes up to mount Nebo, and from thence beholds the land of promise, and there dieth, aged 120 years; the body of Moses God translates out of the place where he died, into a valley of the land of Moab, over against Beth-peor, and there buried it; nor doth any man know the place where he laid it unto this day. The Israelites mourn for him 30 days.
		Here ends the Pentateuch, or five books of Moses, containing the history of 2552 years and a half, from the beginning of the world; and the book of Joshua begins with the forty-first year after the departure of the children of Israel out of Egypt.

Before Christ 1451.	Joshua. II.	Joshua, being confirmed in his government by God, sends forth spies from Shittim to the city of Jericho, who, being harboured by Rahab, are privily sent away, when search is made for them.
	III	Upon the tenth day of the first month, (April 30) to wit, the same day that the Paschal Lamb was to be chosen out of the flock, the Israelites under the conduct of Joshua, a type of Jesus Christ, go up out of the river Jordan into the promised land of Canaan, a type of a more heavenly country. They pass through
	IV.	the river on dry ground, the waters being for the present divided; for a memorial of which miraculous passage, Joshua sets up 12 stones in the very channel of Jordan, and taking 12 other stones out of the midst thereof sets them up at Gilgal, the place where they next encamp.
	Joshua V	The day following, Joshua renews the use of circumcision, which had been omitted 40 years.
	10,	Upon the 14th day of the same month, in the evening, the Israelites celebrate their first passover in the land of Canaan.
	11, 12, 13.	Next day after the passover manna ceaseth.
		Our Lord Jesus, Captain of his Father's host, appears to Joshua, the typical Jesus, before Jericho, with a drawn sword in his hand, and promiseth there to defend his people.
	VI.	Jericho, the ark of the Lord having been carried round about it, is taken the seventh day, the walls thereof falling down at the sound of the priests' trumpets; all the inhabitants are put to the sword, except Rahab and her family.
	VII.	The Israelites besiege Ai, and are smitten by their enemies, God having abandoned them for sacrilege committed by Achan: Achan's sin being discovered
	VIII.	by the casting of lots, and himself found guilty, he is stoned to death, and, together with his children and cattle, burned with fire. God being pacified hereby, Ai is taken by ambushment and utterly destroyed.
	30, 35.	On mount Ebal, according to the law made, is an altar erected, and the Ten Commandments engraven on it; the blessings and cursings are repeated on mount Ebal and mount Gerizim, and the book of the law read in the ears of the people.
	IX.	The kings of Canaan combine against Israel; only the Gibeonites craftily find a way to save their own lives by making a league with them; but are afterwards deputed to the servile offices of the house of God.
	X.	Adoni-zedek, king of Jerusalem, with the kings of Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish, and Eglon, hearing that Gibeon is fallen off from them, join their forces together and besiege it; but Joshua raiseth the siege, pursueth those five kings, and smiteth them as far as Azekah, the Lord in the meanwhile killing more with hailstones from heaven, than the Israelites with their swords. Joshua commands the sun to stand still over Gibeon, and the moon over the valley of Ajalon, by the space almost of one whole day, until the Israelites are fully avenged of their enemies. The five kings hide themselves in a cave at Makkedah; from whence they are brought forth, scornfully used, and hanged.
1450.	Exodus XXIII.	From the autumn of this year, wherein, after the failing of manna, they began to till the ground, the rise of the sabbatical years is to be taken.
1445.	10, 11. Joshua XXIII. XI.	Joshua, now grown old, is commanded by God to divide all the land on the west of Jordan among the nine tribes remaining, and the other half-tribe of Manasseh. The Lord and his sacrifices are the inheritance of Levi.
		The rest of the kings, with whom Joshua had waged war for six years, resolve to set upon him with united forces: but Joshua comes upon them unawares, slays them, and possesseth their countries.
	21. XIV.	Joshua now roots out those giants, the Anakims, with their cities, out of the hill-countries, out of Hebron, Debir, and Anab, and generally out of all the mountains of Judah and all Israel. And having gotten the whole land into his
	XV.	hands, he divides it among the children of Israel according to their tribes; and the land rested from war.
1444.		The first sabbatical year, or year of rest; from hence the year of Jubilee, or every fifty years' space, is to be reckoned.
	XVIII.	The tabernacle is set up at Shiloh, (thought to be the same with Salem,) where it continued 328 years.
	XXII.	The Reubenites, Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, with a blessing are sent home to their possessions on the other side of Jordan.
1443.	XXIII. XXIV.	Joshua gathers together all Israel, exhorts them to obedience, briefly recites God's benefits to them, reneweth the covenant between them and God, and dieth 110 years old.
1413.	Judges II. 7. III. 6, 7,	After the decease of Joshua, and the elders who outlived him, and who remembered the wonders which God had wrought for Israel, there succeeds a generation of men which forget God, and mingle themselves with the Canaanites by marriage, and worship their idols. In this time of anarchy and confusion, when every man did that which seemed right in his own eyes, all those disorders were committed, which are reported in the five last chapters of the Book of Judges; to wit, the idolatry of Micah, and the children of Dan; the
	8,	war of the Benjamites, and the cause thereof. God, being highly provoked, gives them up into the hands of Cushan, king of Mesopotamia; which first calamity of theirs holds them but eight years.
1405.	9,	Othniel, the son of Kenaz, and son-in-law to Caleb, stirred up by God as a judge and avenger of his people, defeats Cushan, and delivers the Israelites
	10.	out of bondage; and the land rested forty years after the first rest which Joshua procured for them.
1343	III. 12.	Othniel dying, the Israelites fell again to sin against God, and are given over into the hands of Eglon king of Moab, who, joining with the Ammonites and the Amalekites, overthrows the Israelites, and takes Jericho; and this second oppression continueth 18 years.
1325.	15, 30,	Ehud the son of Gera is raised up by God to be an avenger of his people; for feigning a message to Eglon, he runs him into the belly with his dagger; then getting away, he gathers all Israel into a body on mount Ephraim, and slays 10,000 of the most valiant men of Moab: and the land resteth 40 years after the former rest obtained by Othniel.
	31.	After him, Shamgar, the son of Anath, slayeth 600 Philistines with an ox-goad, and he also avengeth Israel.
1305.	IV. 1, 2, 3.	The Israelites, after the death of Ehud, returning to their old sin, are given up by God into the hands of Jabin king of Canaan; and this thraldom of theirs continueth 20 years.
1285.	IV. 4.	Deborah, the wife of Lapidoth, a prophetess, who at this time judgeth Israel in mount Ephraim, and Barak of the tribe of Naphtali, being made captain of the host of Israel, in sight of Megiddo, overcomes Sisera, captain of Jabin's army, whom Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite afterward kills in her own tent.
	V. 31.	For a memorial of which victory Deborah composeth a song; and the land resteth 40 years after the former rest obtained by Ehud.
1252.	VI.	The Israelites sinning again are delivered into the hands of the Midianites; which fourth thraldom lasteth 7 years. Hereupon they cry unto God for help, and are reproved by a prophet. Then Gideon the son of Joash, of Manasseh, is by an angel from God sent to deliver them. He first overturns the altar of
1245.		Baal and burns his grove, and is called Jerubbaal. He out of 32,000 men, which came unto him, chooseth only (God so commanding) 300: but with
	VII.	them he puts to flight all the host of the Midianites, whom the Ephraimites afterward pursue, and slay their princes Oreb and Zeeb. Gideon having
	VIII.	pacified the Ephraimites, who complain that they were not called to the battle at first, passeth the river Jordan, and defeats the remainder of the Midianitish army; he chastiseth also the men of Succoth and Penuel, who had refused him victuals in his journey; and slays the two kings of the Midianites, Zebah and Zalmunna. After which great victories, the Israelites offering to settle the kingdom upon him and his posterity, he refuseth it; but receiving their golden ear-rings, he makes thereof an ephod, which afterward proves an occasion of idolatry. The Midianites being thus vanquished, the land enjoys rest 40 years, after the former rest restored to them by Deborah and Barak.
1236.	33.	Gideon dieth, and the Israelites, falling back again to idolatry, worship Baal-berith for their god.
	IX. 1, 2, &c.	Abimelech the son of Gideon (begotten upon his concubine) purposing to get to himself the kingdom which his father had refused, slayeth 70 of his brothers all upon one stone; and having by the help of the Shechemites got to be made
1235.		king, Jotham the youngest son of Gideon, who only escaped Abimelech's fury,

Before Christ 1235.		from the top of mount Gerizim expostulates with them the wrong they had done to his father's house; and by way of a parable foretells their ruin: which done, he flies, and dwells quietly in Beer.
1233.	22,	Abimelech, having reigned three years over Israel, Gaal a Shechemite conspires against him; which being discovered to him by Zebul, he utterly destroys the city of Shechem, and puts all the inhabitants to the sword, and burns the
1232.	50. 2 Samuel XI. 21.	temple of their god Berith with fire; from thence he goeth and layeth siege to Thebez, where he is knocked on the head with a piece of a millstone, cast upon him by a woman from the walls, and then killed outright by his armour-bearer.
1210.	Judges	Tola the son of Puah, after Abimelech, judgeth Israel 23 years.
1206.	X. 1, 2, 3,	Jair the Gileadite succeeds Tola, and judgeth Israel 22 years.
1188.	8,	The Israelites, forsaking again the true God, fall to worship the gods of several nations, and are given up into the hands of the Philistines and Ammonites; which fifth thraldom lasteth 18 years. Upon their repentance, and abandoning their idols, at length they obtain mercy.
1187.	15.	Jephthah the Gileadite, being made captain of the host of Israel, subdues the
	XI.	Ammonites; before the battle he vows his daughter unawares to be offered in
	XII. 6,	sacrifice, and afterward performs it. He puts to the sword 42,000 Ephraimites, who had behaved themselves insolently against him, and judgeth Israel 6 years
1182.	8,	Ibzan the Bethlehemite succeeds Jephthah, and judgeth Israel 7 years.
1175.	11,	Elon the Zebulonite succeeds Ibzan, and judgeth Israel 10 years.
1164.	13.	Abdon the Ephraimite succeeds Elon, and judgeth Israel 8 years.
1156.	1 Samuel IV. 18.	Eli the high priest (in whom the high priesthood was translated from the family of Eleazar to Ithamar's) succeeds Abdon, and judgeth Israel 40 years. The Israelites again provoke the Lord to anger, and he delivers them into the hands
	Judges XIII. 1, 2,	of the Philistines. This sixth thraldom begins seven months after Eli's entering upon the government, and lasteth 40 years, even till seven months after his death, when the ark was brought back again.
1155.	24.	Samson the Nazarite, as an angel had foretold, is born at Zorah.
1137.	XIV. 4.	Whilst Eli the high priest executeth the office of a judge in civil causes under the Philistines, Samson takes an occasion to quarrel with them, by marrying a woman of Timnath; for having on the day of his betrothing propounded a riddle to the Philistines, and laid a wager, his wife tells them the meaning of it: enraged hereat, he goes and slays 30 men of Askelon, and gives them the suits of raiment which he had stripped off their bodies, in performance of the wager which he had lost, and returns home to his father.
1136	XV.	Samson again in harvest-time goes to present his wife with a kid at her father's house, but finds her given away in marriage to another man; Samson resolves to be revenged; he catches 300 foxes, and tying fire-brands to their tails, turns them all into the corn-fields of the Philistines, and into their vineyards, and olive-gardens, and sets them all on fire. The Philistines take Samson's wife and father-in-law, and burn them; Samson in revenge slays a great multitude of them, and sits down upon the rock Etam, from whence being taken by 3000 of the Jews, and by them delivered into the hands of the Philistines, he slays of them a thousand men with the jaw-bone of an ass; in which place he is miraculously refreshed when thirsty and ready to faint.
1117	XVI.	Samson is betrayed by Delilah his concubine, bereaved of the hair of his Nazariteship, and delivered to the Philistines, who put out his eyes and bind him with chains of brass. The Philistines gather together to offer sacrifice to Dagon their god, and Samson is brought to make them sport; whose hair being grown, and his strength in a great measure restored, he takes hold of the two chief pillars whereon the house stood, (wherein were the princes of the Philistines, and a great multitude of people) and pulls down the house, killing more men at his death, than he did in all his life-time. So he died, having judged Israel in the
1116.	1 Sam. IV.	days of the Philistines 20 years.
		The Israelites take up arms against the Philistines, but with very ill success, for they lose 4000 men in one battle. Then they send for the ark of the covenant from Shiloh, and cause it to be brought into the camp. The Philistines, seeing now all lie at stake, encourage one another to behave themselves like men that day; and so falling on, they slay of the Israelites 30,000 men. The ark of God is taken, and Hophni and Phinehas, priests, and sons of Eli, are slain. Of all which, when tidings are brought to old Eli, frighted thereat, he falls from
	V.	his chair and breaks his neck, in the 98th year of his age.
		The Philistines, having brought the ark into Ashdod, set it in the house of Dagon their god. But when Dagon had been found two several times fallen grovelling before it, and broken in pieces, and the inhabitants of the place sorely
	VI.	plagued, they remove it from thence to Gath, and from thence to Ekron. But the same plagues and judgments following wherever it went, after 7 months, by
	VII.	the advice of their priests, they send home the ark again with presents and gifts into the land of the Israelites, and it is brought to Beth-shemesh, where
1096.		50,070 men are smitten for looking into the ark. From hence it is carried to the house of Abinadab in Kirjath-jearim, who sanctifieth his son Eleazar to keep it.
	VII. 13.	After 20 years the Israelites, by Samuel's persuasion, solemnly repent at Mizpeh, and, upon their conversion, God by thunder from heaven delivers them from the invasion of the Philistines, who are subdued, the hand of the Lord

	Hosea XIII. 10.	Samuel, being grown old, takes for his assistance in the government his sons; by whose ill management of affairs, the Israelites require a king to be given them: whereupon God gives them a king in his wrath, to wit, Saul the 1063.	XVI. 11.	David the son of Jesse the Ephrathite, born at Beth-lehem-judah 30 years before he succeeded Saul in the kingdom. He was his father's youngest son.

	XXVIII.	God rejects Saul, and sends Samuel to Beth-lehem, there to anoint David king, whom Saul ever after extremely persecuteth:
	XXIV.	Yet Jonathan, Saul's son, loveth him, and oftentimes rescueth him from Saul cruelty.
1060.	XXVI.	David, having Saul twice in his power, forbears to hurt him.
1056.	XXVII.	David, fearing he may some time or other fall into the hands of Saul, flies to Gath unto king Achish, carrying with him 600 men; and having obtained of him the town of Ziklag to dwell in, he continueth one year and four months in the land of the Philistines; from whence he invadeth the countries of the Geshurites, Gezrites, and Amalekites, and puts to the sword all, both men and women,
1055.	XXVIII.	not leaving one alive to carry the news thereof to king Achish.
	1 Chron. XII.	Achish, proposing to make war upon the Israelites, takes David along with him in that expedition, to whom, whilst he is upon his march with his 600 men,

		Saul, seeing the army of the Philistines, is in great fear, and (Samuel being now dead) goes to En-dor to consult with a witch there; the woman raiseth an
	XXIX.	apparition of Samuel, and Saul receives from it that dreadful doom, The Lord will deliver Israel together with thyself, into the hands of the Philistines.
	XXXI.	The princes of the Philistines growing jealous of David, he and his company early the next morning leave the army, and return to Ziklag.
	2 Sam. I.	The armies join battle, and the Israelites are defeated; the three sons of Saul are slain, and he himself falls on his own sword.
		Three days after, an Amalekite brings Saul's crown, and the bracelet that was upon his arm, and presents them to David, professing that, finding him
	II.	fallen upon his sword, he had killed him outright, and taken the crown from off his head: whereupon David causeth him to be put to death, for stretching
	1 Chron. XII. 23.	forth his hand to slay the Lord's anointed, and lamenteth the death of Saul and Jonathan his son in a funeral song. David, having asked counsel of God, goes up to Hebron with those that are about him, where he is anointed king by the men of Judah, his own tribe, in the 30th year of his age; and there he reigns
	2 Samuel II. 8,	seven years and six months.
1053.	12.	Abner, who was captain of the host of Saul, carries Ishbosheth, Saul's son, to Mahanaim, and there makes him king over the rest of Israel.
		After two years there arise frequent and mortal skirmishes between a party of men on David's side, headed by Joab, David's nephew, and another party on Ishbosheth's side, whereof Abner is chief, but the former still grows stronger and stronger.

1048.	III. 6,	Abner, affronted by Ishbosheth, revolteth to David, and deals with the chief men of Israel to transfer the whole kingdom unto him, and this in the hearing of the Benjamites.
	22.	He comes to David, and is kindly received; returning, he is treacherously murdered by Joab. David much laments his untimely death, and buries him at Hebron.
	IV. 2.	Baanah and Rechab murder their lord and master Ishbosheth, as he lieth resting himself upon his bed. They bring his head to David, who in detestation of their treason causeth them immediately to be put to death.
	V.	The captains and elders of all the tribes coming to Hebron, anoint David a third time, and make him king over all Israel.
1047.	1 Chron. XI.	David with all Israel marcheth to Jerusalem against the Jebusites, and taketh the fort of Zion, and calls it the city of David, and making Jerusalem the seat of

1045.	5, 6, 7, 9. VI.	The ark of the covenant, which in the first sabbatical year was brought from Gilgal to Shiloh, is this year, being also a sabbatical year, brought from Kirjath-jearim out of the house of Abinadab, and placed at Zion; 30,000 choice

1044.	2 Chron. I. 4.	David now dwelling in his house of cedar, which he had built, and living in a full and perfect peace, imparteth to Nathan the prophet his purpose of building
	2 Samuel VII.	a house for God; but is answered from God, that this was a work which should be done, not by him, because he was a man of blood, and trained up in war; but
	1 Chron. XVII.	by his son Solomon, a man of peace, which should be born unto him. The time which passeth from hence till the birth of Solomon is spent in wars; wherein

1035.	XVIII. Genesis XV. 18. Deut.	At the end of this year Joab, going with the army against the Ammonites, besiegeth Rabbah, the metropolis of Ammon, whilst David takes his ease at Jerusalem, and there commits adultery with Bathsheba the wife of Uriah the Hittite, who was then in the army, whom he also procures to be slain.
1034.	XI. 24.	The child so gotten in adultery is born. David is convicted by Nathan the

1033.	2 Sam. XI.	Bathsheba becomes now David's wife, and beareth him a son, unto whom, as
	1 Chron. XX.	unto one who should prove a man of peace, God gives the name of Solomon; and, as to one beloved of the Lord, the name of Jedidiah.
1032.	2 Samuel	Amnon, David's eldest son, deflloureth his sister Tamar.

1024.	XIII. 1, 23. XIV.	This rebel son, having got chariots and horses, and a guard to attend him, insinuates himself into the favour of the people, and steals away their hearts from his father David.
1023.	XV. 7.	The next year following, under pretence of a vow, he obtaineth leave to go to Hebron, where, by Ahithophel's counsel, he breaks out into oper rebellion, and forceth his father to fly from Jerusalem.
	XVII.	Ahithophel, because his counsel in all matters is not followed by Absalom, hangs himself.
	XVIII.	Absalom, having lost 20,000 men, fleeth, and a bough of an oak catching hold of him, he there hangs, and is run through by Joab.
1017.	XXIV.	David, tempted by Satan, commandeth Joab to number the people: God, offended thereat, sends a prophet to put three plagues to his choice, viz. the famine, sword, or pestilence. David chooseth to fall into the hands of a merci-
	1 Chron. XXI.	ful God, rather than into the hands of men. So God sends a pestilence, whereof 70,000 men die in one day. The angel being about to destroy Jerusalem, God bids him hold his hand; for he beholds David repenting in sackcloth, and entreating him to spare the innocent people, and to turn his hand upon himself, and upon his father's house.
1016.	1 Kings	Rehoboam is born unto Solomon by Naamah, an Ammonitish woman.
1015.	XIV. 21. 1 Kings I.	David, being now 70 years of age, and broken with continual cares and wars, grows so weak and feeble, that clothes can no longer preserve heat in him. Therefore Abishag, a young virgin, is appointed to keep him warm. Adonijah, seeing his father thus declining, by the assistance of Joab and Abiathar, makes himself king: which David understanding, he presently commands Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, with other great men, to anoint Solomon king. Adonijah hearing this, betakes himself to the sanctuary, and is pardoned.
	II.	David, having given instructions to his son Solomon, dieth; after he had reigned in Hebron seven years and six months, and 33 years in Jerusalem over all Israel.

The Lord appears to Solomon in a dream, and bids him ask what he will, and it shall be given him. Solomon asketh wisdom; God gives him wisdom from above, and adds thereunto riches and honour. Of this divine wisdom Solomon makes an eminent manifestation in judging between two harlots.

1005.	III. 1. 1 Kings	Solomon's temple finished in the eleventh year of his reign; having been seven years and a half in building.
1004.	VI. 38. VIII. 2 Chron.	Solomon this year (being the 9th Jubilee, and opening the fourth Millenary of the world) with great magnificence celebrates the dedication of the temple, at which time God giveth a visible sign of his favour.
975.	V, VI, VII. 1 Kings XI.	Solomon having, as it is with reason believed, forsaken his lusts and vanities, to which he had been too intemperately addicted, and written, as a testimony of his repentance, his book called, The Preacher, dieth. He reigned 40 years.
	2 Chron. IX. 1 Kings XII.	The Israelites assemble at Shechem to crown Rehoboam, Solomon's son, king over all Israel. The people by Jeroboam sue unto him for a removal of some grievances; to whom Rehoboam, by the advice of young men, returning a harsh answer, alienates the hearts of ten tribes from him, who make Jeroboam
	25. XIV. 17 XII. 26	king over them, and fall at the same time from the house of David, and from the true worship of God. Jeroboam, in the beginning of his reign, repairs Shechem, destroyed by Abimelech 258 years before, and there dwells; afterward going over Jordan he builds Penuel, and at length makes Tirzah the seat of his kingdom. But fearing lest his new subjects by going to Jerusalem to worship, may be induced to revolt from him, he deviseth a new form of religion, setting up two golden calves, the one at Beth-el, the other at Dan, for the seduced people to bow down unto.
	XIV. 2 Chron.	From the time of this dismal rent Rehoboam reigneth over Judah and Benjamin 17 years, and Jeroboam over Israel, or the other ten tribes, 22 years.
974.	XII. XI. 17. 1 Kings XII. 32. XIII. 2.	The Priests and Levites, and other Israelites who feared God, stick to Rehoboam, and maintain the kingdom of Judah three years; after which time Rehoboam falls to idolatry, and walketh no more in the ways of David and Solomon. Jeroboam sacrificing to his calf at Beth-el, a prophet is sent unto him from God, who foretells the judgment which should one day be executed upon that altar, and the priests (viz. those whom Jeroboam had made of the lowest of the people) that served at it. Which prophecy then and there is confirmed by signs and wonders upon the king himself, and upon the altar.
971.	XIV. 25. 2 Chron. XII.	Shishak king of Egypt spoileth Jerusalem and the temple; but the king and the princes repenting at the preaching of Shemaiah the prophet, God gives them not over to utter destruction.
958.	1 Kings XV.	Abijam the son of Rehoboam succeeds his father in the kingdom of Judah, and reigns three years.
957.	2 Chron. XIII.	He obtains a great victory over Jeroboam, killeth 500,000 men in one battle, and taketh Beth-el.

Before Christ
	1 Kings XV. 8,	Asa in the twentieth year of Jeroboam succeeds his father Abijam, and reigns 41 years.
955.	25,	Nadab in the second year of Asa succeedeth his father Jeroboam in the king-

953.	27.	Nadab at the siege of Gibbethon (a town of the Philistines) is slain by Baasha of the tribe of Issachar in the third year of Asa; and the same year having made himself king over Israel, he utterly destroyeth the whole race of Jeroboam, and reigneth 24 years. At this time lived the prophets Jehu, Hanani, and Azarias.
951.	2 Chron. XIV.	Asa destroyeth idolatry, and, enjoying ten years of peace, strengthens his kingdom with forts and a standing army.
941.	9.	Zerah the Ethiopian with an innumerable army invadeth Judah: Asa overcomes him, sacrificeth to God of the spoil, and maketh a solemn covenant with
	XV.	God. He also deposeth Maachah his grandmother, a great patroness of idolatry; bringeth into the temple those things which his father and himself had consecrated unto God, and enjoys a long peace.
930.	1 Kings	Elah the son of Baasha succeeds his father in the kingdom of Israel.
929.	XVI. 6, 8,	In the second year of his reign, and the twenty-seventh of Asa's, Zimri, one of his captains, conspires against him, kills him, and reigneth in his stead. As soon as he sits in the throne, he destroyeth the whole family of Baasha; but the army which then lay before Gibbethon makes Omri their king, who presently besiegeth Tirzah, and taketh it; which Zimri seeing, he sets on fire the king's palace, and perisheth in the flames.
	21,	The people of Israel are now divided into two factions; one follows Tibni
925.	22,	the son of Ginath, and endeavours to make him king; the other adheres to Omri, but Tibni dying, Omri reigns alone in the 31st year of Asa.
924.	23, 24,	Omri having reigned six years in Tirzah, removes the seat of his kingdom to Samaria, a place which he himself had built.
918.	29.	Ahab succeeds his father in the kingdom of Israel, and reigneth 22 years in Samaria. He did evil in the sight of the Lord above all that were before him.
914.	1 Kings XXII. 41.	Jehoshaphat succeedeth his father Asa in the fourth year of Ahab king of
912.	2 Chron. XX. 31.	Israel, and reigneth 25 years in Jerusalem. Jehoshaphat being settled in his kingdom, and having demolished the high
	XVII. 7.	places and groves, in the third year of his reign he sends Levites with the princes to instruct the people in the law. God in the meantime subdueth his enemies under him.
901.	1 Kings XX.	Ben-hadad king of Syria layeth siege to Samaria, who by the direction of a prophet is beaten off, and a vast number of the Syrians slain.
899.	XXI.	Ahab, not being able to persuade Naboth to sell him his vineyard, falls sick upon it; Jezebel his wife, suborning false witnesses to accuse him of blasphemy, causeth Naboth to be stoned, and puts the king in possession of the vineyard. Whereupon the prophet Elijah denounceth judgments against Ahab and Jezebel; wicked Ahab repenting, God defers the judgment.
898.	XXII. 51. 2 Kings III. 1.	Ahab in the seventeenth year of the reign of Jehoshaphat maketh his son Ahaziah his associate in the government of his kingdom.
	I. 17.	Jehoshaphat also maketh Jehoram his son-copartner with him; whence it is, that Jehoram the son of Ahab, who succeeded his brother Ahaziah in the kingdom of Israel, in the 18th year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, is said to have begun his reign in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat.
897.	1 Kings XXII. 2 Chron. XVIII.	Ahab having got Jehoshaphat to assist him in the siege of Ramoth-gilead, before he goes, he asketh counsel of 400 false prophets, who promise him victory and success; but by Jehoshaphat's advice Micaiah, a true prophet of God, is consulted, who foretells his overthrow; and according to his word Ahab is slain at Ramoth-gilead, and buried at Samaria.
896.	2 Kings I. 1. III. 5. 2 Sam. VIII. 2. 2 Kings I.	Ahab being dead, the Moabites revolt from Israel, who had continued in subjection ever since king David's days. Ahaziah king of Israel, lying ill of a fall, sends to consult Baal-zebub the god of Ekron concerning his recovery. Elijah the prophet meeteth the messenger and telleth him Ahaziah shall surely die; whereupon two captains over fifty men apiece are sent to apprehend him, and bring him before the king; Elijah calleth for fire from heaven, and destroyeth both them and their companies. A third captain with his fifty men being sent, and behaving himself submissively, Elijah goes along with him; the prophet certifies the king that he shall not come down from his bed alive. So Ahaziah dieth having governed (partly by
	1 Kings XXII.	himself, and partly together with his father) two years.
	2 Kings III. 1.	Jehoram succeedeth his brother Ahaziah in the kingdom of Israel in the latter
	II. 11.	end of the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat, and reigneth twelve years. Elijah is taken up into heaven in a fiery chariot.
892.	2 Chron. XXI. 2, 3. 2 Kings VIII. 16.	Jehoshaphat grown old gives to his sons many gifts with fenced cities in Judea; but his eldest son Jehoram he now more absolutely investeth with the throne of the kingdom in the fifth year of Jehoram king of Israel.
889.	2 Chron. XXI. 4, 5. Genesis XXVII. 40. 2 Chron. XXI. 10, 11, 12.	Jehoram now, by the death of his father, has the kingdom of Judah to himself, which he holds four years. He is no sooner settled in his throne, but he puts all his brethren to the sword, with many of the princes of Israel. At this time the Edomites, who ever since king David's time had lived in subjection to Judah, revolt, and (as it was foretold by Isaac) they forever shake off his yoke Libnah also, a city of the priests in the tribe of Judah, falls off from him about this time. Jehoram following the counsel of his wicked wife Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab king of Israel, sets up in Judah, and even in Jerusalem itself, the idolatrous worship of Baal, and compels his subjects thereto; a letter which was left for him by Elijah the prophet comes to his hands, which reproves him, and denounces all those calamities and punishments which afterward befell him.
885.	2 Kings VIII. 25,	Ahaziah succeeds his father in the kingdom of Judah (having had part of the government bestowed upon him the year before) in the 12th year of Jehoram king of Israel, and reigneth one year in Jerusalem.
884.	28. IX.	Jehoram king of Israel, and Ahaziah king of Judah, lead their armies to Ramoth-gilead against Hazael, who had newly succeeded Ben-hadad in the kingdom of Syria; Jehoram is dangerously wounded, and retires himself to Jezreel to be cured. In the meantime Elisha sendeth a young prophet with instructions to anoint Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, at Ramoth-gilead, king over Israel, and to open to him the will of God for the rooting out of the house of Ahab; who, being proclaimed king by the soldiers, marcheth straight to Jezreel, killeth Jehoram in the field of Naboth, and causeth Jezebel to be cast out at a window, where she is eaten by dogs. He despatcheth letters also
	2 Kings X.	to Samaria, and causeth seventy of Ahab's children to be beheaded. Then taking with him Jehonadab the son of Rechab, he comes himself to Samaria, and destroys the whole family of Ahab, and all the priests of Baal. Nevertheless, having put down the worship of Baal, he departs not from the worship of Jeroboam's golden calves, but maintains that idolatry all the time of his reign, which was 28 years.
884.	IX. X.	Jehu proceeds farther, and executes the divine vengeance upon the idolatrous house of Judah; he pursues Ahaziah, who fled towards Megiddo, and overtaking him at Gur, causeth him to be killed in his chariot. Going also to Samaria, he meeteth with 42 of Ahaziah's kinsmen, whom he causeth to be slain.
	XI. 2 Chron. XXII. 10.	Athaliah the daughter of Ahab, seeing her son Ahaziah dead, usurps the kingdom, destroying those that had right to the succession; but Jehosheba the daughter of king Jehoram, and wife to Jehoiada the high priest, takes Jehoash, being then an infant, and son to her brother Ahaziah, and hides him in the temple, and so saves him from that massacre which was made of the rest of the blood royal.
878.	2 Kings XI. 2 Chron. XXIII.	Jehoiada the high priest brings out Jehoash, now seven years old, and anoints him king; causeth Athaliah to be slain, and restoreth the worship of the true God, destroying the house of Baal, and commanding the idolatrous priest Mattan to be killed before his altars. Jehoash, now beginning his reign in the seventh year of Jehu, reigneth 40 years in Jerusalem.
857.	2 Kings XII. 7. XIII. 1.	Jehoash, in the 23d year of his reign, giveth order for the repair of the temple, committing the charge thereof to Jehoiada the high priest.
	VIII. 12.	Jehoahaz succeedeth his father Jehu in the kingdom of Israel, and reigneth 17 years: during all which time Hazael king of Syria oppresseth him, and exerciseth all those cruelties upon the Israelites, which Elisha the prophet had foretold.

Before Christ
841.	XIII. 10.	Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz king of Israel, is taken into the consortship of that kingdom by his father in the 27th year of Jehoash king of Judah, and reigneth 16 years.
840.	2 Chron. XXIV. 2 Kings XII. 20.	Zechariah, the son of Jehoiada the high priest, for reproving the people of Judah that fall to idolatry after the decease of Jehoiada, is stoned to death in the court of the house of the Lord by the commandment of king Jehoash, who the next year after is murdered by some of his servants, as he lay in his bed; and Amaziah his son succeedeth him.
839.	XIII.	Jehoahaz dieth, and Jehoash his son succeedeth in the kingdom of Israel. Not long after his father's funeral he visits Elisha the prophet, then lying sick, and with many tears asketh counsel of him, who promiseth him victory over the Syrians. A dead man is brought to life by being laid in Elisha's grave.
836.	XV 1.	Jeroboam the second is this year taken into the consortship of the kingdom of Israel by his father Jehoash, going to war against the Syrians. This is gathered from Azariah king of Judah's beginning his reign in the 27th year of this Jeroboam.
826.	XIV. 2 Chron. XXV.	Amaziah king of Judah, growing proud upon a victory obtained against the Edomites this 14th year of his reign, provoketh Jehoash king of Israel to battle. Jehoash overcomes him, and takes him prisoner, breaks down 400 cubits of the wall of Jerusalem, and having spoiled the temple and the king's house of a vast treasure, returns to Samaria.
825.	2 Kings XIV. 23.	Jehoash dies fifteen years before Amaziah, and Jeroboam the second, his son, reigneth in Samaria 41 years.
810.	XIV. 2 Chron. XXV.	Amaziah, finding a conspiracy against him at Jerusalem, flies to Lachish, where he is murdered; after whom comes his son Uzziah, or Azariah, in the 27th year of Jeroboam the second, and reigneth 52 years in Jerusalem.
808.	2 Kings XV. XIV. 25. Isaiah IX. 1. Jonah III. Matth. XII. 41. 2 Kings XIV. 29.	Now is held the 13th Jubilee under the two most flourishing kings; in whose times live sundry great prophets in both kingdoms; Isaiah and Joel in Judah; Jonas, Hosea, and Amos, in Israel. Jonas of Gath-hepher, a town belonging to the tribe of Zebulon in Galilee of the Gentiles, (observe here the blindness of the Pharisees, John vii. 52.) was afterward sent into Nineveh, the metropolis of Assyria, where both king and people at his preaching repented. Jeroboam king of Israel (under whom that kingdom came to its full height of glory) dieth; after his death all things fall into confusion, and the state is reduced to a plain anarchy, which lasteth 11 years and a half; for such an interregnum or vacancy the synchronism of Kings requires, that the six months of Zachariah the son of Jeroboam may answer the 38 years and one month of Shallum, who murdered him in the 39th year of Azariah, or Uzziah, king of Judah.
773.	XV. 8.	Zachariah the son of Jeroboam, the 4th and last of the race of Jehu (as was foretold) begins his reign over Israel in the 38th year of Azariah, or Uzziah, king of Judah, and reigneth 6 months.
772	10 Amos VII. 9.	Shallum the son of Jabesh, at the end of 6 months, murders him in the sight of the people, and reigns one month in the 39th year of Uzziah king of Judah. After Zachariah's death follow those direful calamities foretold by Amos the prophet.
	2 Kings XV. 14,	Menahem the son of Gadi going from Tirzah to Samaria, killeth Shallum, wasteth Tiphsah and the borders thereof; and because the town would not open to him, he takes it, and rips up all the women with child.
771.	19,	While Menahem in these broils labours to get the possession of the kingdom, Pul king of Assyria invadeth his country, to whom Menahem giveth 1000 talents of silver, and afterward reigneth quietly 10 years
761.	28,	Pekahiah succeedeth his father Menahem in the 50th year of Uzziah king of Judah, and reigneth 2 years.
759.	25, 27,	Pekah, one of his captains, kills him in his own palace at Samaria, and reigneth 20 years.
758	32.	Jotham succeedeth his father Uzziah in the kingdom of Judah at the age of 25 years, and reigneth 16 years in Jerusalem.
	2 Chron. XXVII. 5. Mic. I. 1.	Jotham subdues the Ammonites, and makes them tributary for 3 years. Under him and his two successors the prophets Micah and Hosea execute their prophetical office. About this time lived the prophet Nahum, and prophesied the destruction of Nineveh.
742.	2 Kings XVI. 1. 2 Chron. XXVIII. 1. Isa. VII.	Ahaz succeedeth his father Jotham in the 17th year of Pekah king of Israel, and reigneth 16 years. This year Rezin king of Syria and Pekah king of Israel are confederate against Judah, which strikes a great terror into that nation; but unto Ahaz, God, by the prophet Isaiah, sends a gracious message, with a promise of deliverance; for a sign whereof (when the incredulous king, being bid to ask a sign, refused to do it) God gives him the promise of Immanuel to be born of a virgin. Rezin and Pekah now lay siege to Jerusalem, and therein to Ahaz, but are beaten off; Ahaz is no sooner delivered from his enemies, but he forsakes God his
741.		deliverer, and falls to idolatry. Wherefore God gives him over into the hands of the king of Israel, who slays of the men of Judah 120,000 in one day, with a great many of the nobility, and carrieth away 200,000 captives; but these, by the advice of the prophet Oded, are released and sent home.
739.	2 Kings XV. 30.	Hoshea the son of Elah murders Pekah king of Israel, and gets the kingdom into his own hands; it is said, in the 20th year of Jotham, that is, from the time that Jotham first began to reign, which is the same with the 4th of Ahaz his son. Hoshea, by reason of the tumults and disorders which ensued, cannot be said to have reigned till 9 years after, the state continuing all that time in great

726.	XVIII. 1. 2 Chron. XXIX. XXX.	Hezekiah succeedeth his father Ahaz in the kingdom of Judah: he destroyeth idolatry and prospers: he also celebrates a solemn passover, and reigneth 29 years in Jerusalem; his father had made him in the last year of his reign, his assistant in the government.
725.	XXXI. 2 Kings XVII. 4.	Hoshea king of Israel, having consulted with So king of Egypt, refuseth to pay tribute to Shalmaneser; provoked hereby, and jealous of some farther design in that confederacy of Hoshea with the king of Egypt, Shalmaneser layeth siege to Samaria, and toward the latter end of the third year taketh it, and carrieth

713.	XVIII.	Sennacherib king of Assyria, coming up against Judah, besiegeth their fenced cities, and taketh many of them, but is pacified by a tribute.
	XX. Isaiah XXXVIII	About this time Hezekiah falls sick, and is told by Isaiah that he shall die; but pouring out his tears and prayers unto God, he recovereth his health, and obtaineth a prolongation of his life and kingdom for 15 years. For a sign where-

Sennacherib, not observing the articles of peace, layeth siege to Jerusalem, and sendeth a blasphemous letter to Hezekiah; which he opening, and spreading before the Lord in the temple with many tears, craves assistance from God against the Assyrians. Whereupon the prophet Isaiah assures him that God will deliver him, and defend that city. The self-same night an angel of the Lord slays 185,000 men in the Assyrian army; and the next morning Sennacherib departeth, and returns to Nineveh; where not long after, whilst he is worshipping in the house of Nisroch his god, he is slain by his own sons.

639.	2 Kings XXII. 1. 2 Chron. XXXIV.	In the 12th year of his reign, he begins a reformation in Judah and Jerusalem, and carries it on successfully. This year he giveth order for the repair of the temple. Hilkiah the high priest, having found a book of the law, sends it to the king, who hears it read all over to him; and thereupon asketh counsel of Huldah the prophetess, who prophesieth the destruction of Jerusalem, but not in his days. Josiah calling to him the elders of Judah and Jerusalem, with the priests and prophets, causeth the book of the law to be read over before all the people, and reneweth the covenant between God and his people; he burneth also dead men's bones upon the altar at Beth-el, as was foretold; and keepeth a most solemn passover.
610.	2 Kings XXIII. 29. Zechar. XII. 11.	At this time a war breaks out between the king of Egypt and the king of Assyria. Josiah unadvisedly engageth in this war against Necho king of Egypt, and is slain in the valley of Megiddo. The good king being thus taken out of the world, whose life only kept off the Babylonish captivity from that nation, not only the people then living bewailed his death, but even in after time a public mourning for him was kept. The prophet Jeremy also in remembrance

From which entering of the king and people of the Jews into the subjection and service of Nebuchadnezzar are the 70 years of the captivity of Babylon to be reckoned, which were foretold by
	Daniel I. 3, 7. Isaiah XXXIX. 7.	the prophet Jeremy. Nebuchadnezzar gives order to Ashpenaz, master of the eunuchs, that he shall carry from thence of the children of Israel, both of the blood royal (as was foretold by the prophet Isaiah to Hezekiah) and also of the nobility the choicest youths both for beauty and wit that he can find; who, being educated 3 years in the language and sciences of the Chaldeans, may afterward be fit to serve the king in his palace; among whom, of the tribe of Judah, are Daniel, called Belteshazzar; Hananiah, called Shadrach; Mishael, called Meshach; and Azariah, called Abed-nego; their names being thus changed by the master of the

He causeth to be brought to Babylon what he thinks fit of the vessels and furniture of the temple, and placeth them in the house of his god, viz. Belus.
603.	2 Kings XXIV. 1. Dan. II.	Jehoiakim, having lived 3 years in subjection to the king of Babylon, falls off, and rebels against him. This year (being the second of Nebuchadnezzar's reign, taking it as it began at his father's death,) Daniel recovers Nebuchadnezzar's dream, and interprets it to betoken the four chief monarchies; whereupon he and his companions
600.	2 Kings XXIV. 2.	are highly advanced. Nebuchadnezzar sends an army, consisting of Chaldeans, Syrians, Moabites, and Ammonites, against Jehoiakim; these waste the whole country of Judea,
599.	Jerem. XXII. 18. XXXVI. 30.	and carry away from thence 3023 captives: Jehoiakim also is taken prisoner; whom they put to death, cause his carcass to be drawn out at the gate of Jerusalem (as was foretold by the prophet Jeremiah) and leave it without the walls unburied.
	2 Kings XXIV. 8. 2 Chron. XXXVI. 9. Isaiah XXXIX. 6. Jerem. XXIV. 1. Ezekiel XVII. 12. I. 2, 3. Baruch VI.	Jehoiachin (called also Conias and Jeconias) at 18 years of age succeeds his father Jehoiakim, and reigns 3 months in Jerusalem. Against him Nebuchadnezzar leads an army, and besiegeth Jerusalem; Jehoiachin with all his kindred and courtiers come out to meet him. Nebuchadnezzar makes them all prisoners, enters Jerusalem, and takes all the treasure he can find in the temple and the king's palace, breaking in pieces all the vessels of gold and furniture which Solomon had made for the temple; he carrieth away captive to Babylon the king, his mother, wives, courtiers, magistrates, and 10,000 able men out of Jerusalem, leaving none behind but the poorer sort of people; and out of the country round about he carried also away 6000 artificers; among the captives are Mordecai, and Ezekiel the priest; Ezekiel therefore in his prophecy reckons the time all along from the beginning of this captivity. An epistle, said to be Jeremiah's, is now sent to the captives, admonishing them to beware of the idolatry which they shall see in Babylon.
597.	2 Kings XXIV. 17. 2 Chron. XXXVI.	Nebuchadnezzar before his departure from Jerusalem makes Mattaniah, Jehoiachin's father's brother, king, changing his name into Zedekiah. Zedekiah, beginning his reign at 21 years of age, reigneth 11 years; he, by rebelling against Nebuchadnezzar, or rather by continuing in an open rebellion (as his fathers had done) against God, brought upon Jerusalem and the whole nation of the Jews those long-deserved calamities which God had so often fore-
588.	2 Kings XXV. Jer. I. 3. XXXIX. LII.	warned them of by his prophets; for, in the latter end of the 11th year of Zedekiah, Jerusalem, after a long siege, is taken by Nebuchadnezzar, and his Chaldeans enter it. Zedekiah flees away by night, but, being pursued, is taken, and brought prisoner to Riblah, Nebuchadnezzar's head quarters; there having first seen his children slaughtered before his eyes, he has afterward those eyes put out, and being loaden with chains, is carried away captive to Babylon. About a month after the taking of the city, Nebuzar-adan, captain of the guard, sent by Nebuchadnezzar, makes his entry into it, sets fire to the temple, the king's palace, and some noblemen's houses, and so layeth the whole city in ashes; the walls of Jerusalem being razed to the ground, all that were left in the city, and those that a little before had fallen to the Chaldeans, with what treasure he can find, doth Nebuzar-adan carry with him into Babylon.
	2 Kings XXV. 21. Jerem. XLIX. 7. Ezekiel XXV. 12.	And thus was Judah carried out of her own land 468 years after David began to reign over it, 388 years after the falling off of the ten tribes, and 134 years after the destruction of the kingdom of Israel. Obadiah the prophet denounceth God's judgments against the Edomites, who now insult over the calamity of the Jews. The same do Jeremy and Ezekiel, and the author of the 79th and 137th Psalms, who wrote all about the same time.

569. The Babylonian Empire 562.	Dan. IV. 29, 33, 34	NEBUCHADNEZZAR, proud of his victories over Egypt, and his conquest of Judea and other countries, and boasting the magnificence of his buildings, falls distracted, and is driven from the society of men. After seven years spent among the beasts of the field, his understanding returning to him, he humbly acknowledgeth the power of God, and his goodness toward him: and is restored to his kingdom. A few days after he dies, having reigned about 20 months together with his father, and 43 years by himself.
	2 Kings XXV. 27. Jer. LII. 31.	Evil-merodach his son succeeds him in the 37th year of the captivity of Jehoiachin, and two days after changeth his prison-clothes, sets him above all the princes of his court, and causeth him to eat at his own table. Jehoiachin dies
555.	Daniel VII. 1.	about two years after. Belshazzar, having removed some persons who had murdered his father Evil merodach, and usurped his throne, succeeds in the kingdom of Babylon. In the first year of this king's reign Daniel has the vision of the four beasts, signifying the four monarchies of the world, and of God delivering over all power and sovereignty to the Son of man.

Before Christ 553.	Daniel VIII. 1.	In the third year of Belshazzar, Daniel receives the vision of the ram and he-goat, betokening the destruction of the Persian monarchy, and the great misery which Antiochus should bring upon the people of God.
538.	V.	This year Belshazzar makes a great feast for all his nobles, and causeth to be brought forth all the vessels of the house of the Lord, which Nebuchadnezzar his grandfather had brought away from Jerusalem, to the glory of his idols, and dishonour of the true God. In the midst of all this jollity a hand appears writing on the wall of the room in which the king and his numerous guests sit drinking. The king, greatly terrified hereat, sends for his Chaldean astrologers and wizards, and commands them to read the writing, and give him the interpretation of it; but they not being able to do either, Daniel is sent for, who reads the writing, and gives the king the interpretation of it: whereupon Daniel is publicly proclaimed the third man in the kingdom. The same night Belshazzar is slain, Babylon taken by Cyrus, and the empire translated to the Medes and Persians, as had been sundry times foretold by the prophets.

	VI. 6.	Daniel's greatness raising envy in some principal courtiers and officers, these contrive his ruin: but finding nothing in his management of affairs whereof to accuse him, they resolve to order matters so, that Daniel's piety toward God shall become an offence worthy of death. They move the king to make a decree, that for 30 days no petition shall be made to any god or man but to himself only. Which decree Daniel breaks by making supplication to his God, and is for doing so cast into a den of lions: but being found to have received no hurt there, Darius commands the conspirators to be cast into the same den, who are presently devoured; and the king publisheth a decree, that all persons throughout his dominions shall reverence and fear the God of Daniel.
537.	IX.	Towards the end of the first year of the reign of Darius the Mede, to be reckoned from the subversion of the Babylonish empire, begins the 70th year of the captivity of the Jews, which, by Jeremiah's prophecy, was to be the last year of their calamity. Upon consideration of which time so near at hand, Daniel pours out most fervent prayers to God for the remission of his own sins, and those of his people; and for that promised deliverance out of their captivity. To whom the angel Gabriel brings an answer not only of this, but also of the spiritual deliverance of the church by the death of the Messiah; uttering that memorable prophecy of the seventy weeks.

536. The Persian Empire		Cyrus, his father Cambyses, and his father-in-law Cyaxares both dying, Persia falls to him by inheritance, and Media by contract of marriage: and so he is possessed of the whole eastern empire; from which time both Xenophon (Inst. lib. 8.) reckons the 7 years of his reign, and the Holy Scripture out of the records of the Medes and Persians, reckons this his first year; for it teacheth us, that in this year came forth that renowned edict of his, Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and hath charged me to build him a house at Jerusalem which is in Judah, &c.

		He restoreth also all the vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had brought from thence; and contributes toward the building.
	Ezra I. 5, 6.	The Jews therefore return into their own country; the poorer sort having allowance made them to defray their charges upon the way. The number of
	II.	the children of the province, or Hebrews born in Chaldea, which with their
	Nehem. VII.	captain Zerubbabel, and their high priest Jeshua, return out of captivity, is 42,360, besides proselytes, men-servants, and maid-servants, to the number of 7,337. Now the particular sums of Ezra's catalogue being cast up amount only to 29,818; and those in Nehemiah's account make but 31,051, both which come far short of that universal sum of 42,360, which at the bottom of each catalogue is said to be the number of the whole congregation. Wherefore the Hebrews in the xxixth chapter of their great chronicle tell us, that to complete the full sum 42,360, we must cast in those of the other ten tribes of Israel, who came up out of the captivity with the Jews. For even till the last extirpation of the Jewish state there remained some relics of the other ten tribes, not only in the dispersion, and at Jerusalem, and other cities of Judah; but also of those who kept

535.	Ezra III. 8, 13.	In the second year after their return from Babylon, in the second month, they appoint Levites to oversee the work of the house of God, and lay the foundation of the temple; the old men lamenting, who 53 years before had seen the old temple standing, and the younger sort rejoicing to see the new one going up.
534.	IV. 5,	The Samaritans by the means of certain courtiers about Cyrus, whom they had bribed for that purpose, disturb the Jews in their work of the temple.
529.	6.	In the beginning of the reign of Artaxerxes (called in profane story Cambyses) the Samaritans, who, whilst Cyrus lived, had secretly undermined the Jews, now openly frame a direct accusation in writing against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem, and present it to the king, who presently forbids the Jews to proceed in the building.
520.	V. 1.	In the second year of king Darius Hystaspes (the same with Ahasuerus) Zerubbabel and Jeshua, incited by the prophets Haggai and Zechariah, set forward the building of the temple.
	Hag. II. 1, 9.	Haggai prophesieth that the glory of this second temple shall be greater than that of the former; not as being a more magnificent structure, but in regard the blessed Messiah shall one day honour it with his presence, and from thence propagate peace to all nations.
519.	Zech. I.	About this time Zechariah the prophet exhorteth the Jews to repentance.

515.	Ezra VI.	In the sixth year of Darius, or Ahasuerus, the temple is finished; the dedication whereof is celebrated with great joy and abundance of sacrifices, the Priests and Levites, every one in his place, attending on the ministry of the temple. The passover also is celebrated.
510.	Est. III.	Haman an Agagite, of the race of the Amalekites, a great favourite of king Ahasuerus, offended at Mordecai, because he falls not down and adores him, as
	Deut. 	Est. IV.	Haman obtains an edict from the king, that all Jews, without respect to sex or age, upon the thirteenth day of the month Adar, be put to death in all the provinces of the king's dominions. Hereupon Mordecai, Esther, and all the Jews, humble themselves before the Lord by fasting and prayer.

467.	Ezra VII.	Ezra the priest, a man skilled in the law of Moses, obtains a large commission from king Artaxerxes, to settle the Jewish commonwealth, and to reform the church at Jerusalem.

Before Christ 442.	Neh. V. 14. XIII. 6.	Nehemiah having governed Judea 12 years, returns to the king of Persia.
415.		This year is the 21st Jubilee, the last that ever the prophets of the Old Testament saw: for that place in Nehemiah, chap. xii. 22, is not to be understood of the last Darius, but of Darius Nothus, who now reigns in Persia; the full history of Nehemiah ending with the time of Artaxerxes Longimanus father of this Darius Nothus.
		Hitherto (saith Eusebius in his Chronicle, to the 32d year of Artaxerxes) the Divine Scriptures of the Hebrews contain the annals of the times. But those things which were done among them afterward we must deliver out of the books of the Maccabees, and out of the writings of Josephus, who have delivered a general history of the Jewish affairs from thence down to the times of the Romans.
		That Malachi, the last of the prophets, was contemporary with Nehemiah, appears from hence, that he nowhere exhorts the people to the building of the temple, as Haggai and Zachary did; but, the temple being now built, he reproves

This was the rise of that schismatical conventicle of the Samaritans. See John iv. 20.
	Jos. Ant. I. 11. c. 8.	Alexander marcheth toward Jerusalem, intending to besiege it. Jaddus the high priest, hearing of it, putteth on his priestly ornaments, and accompanied with the people all in white, goeth out to meet him. Alexander, seeing his habit, falls prostrate before him, saying that, whilst he was in Macedonia, a man appeared unto him in the very same habit, who invited him to come into Asia, and promised to deliver the Persian Empire into his hands. 	Jos. Ant. I. 12. c. 1. 1 Mac. I.	Alexander, having reigned six years and ten months dieth; his army and dominions are divided among his captains. Antigonus makes himself governor of Asia; Seleucus of Babylon and the bordering nations; Lysimachus hath the Hellespont; Cassander, Macedon; and Ptolemeus, the son of Lagus, gets Egypt.
	Jos. Ant. I. 12. c. 1.	Ptolemeus, surnamed Soter, makes himself master of Jerusalem by a stratagem; for he enters the city on a sabbath-day under pretence of offering sacri-

277.	I. 12. c. 2.	Ptolemeus Philadelphus, son of Ptolemeus Soter, being a great favourer of learning, builds a most magnificent library at Alexandria. Demetrius Phalerius, to whom he had committed the care of procuring all sorts of books, and out of all countries, persuades him to employ 72 Jews in translating the Holy Scriptures out of the original Hebrew into the Greek tongue, which was done in the seventh year of his reign. The king also dismisseth many captive Jews and dedicates many presents to the temple of God at Jerusalem.
177.	2 Mac. III.	One Simon, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, governor of the temple, falling out with Onias, the high priest, goes to Apollonius the governor of Celosyria, and informs him that there is a vast treasure in the temple: Apollonius acquaints king Seleucus his master with it, who presently sends his treasurer Heliodorus to Jerusalem, to bring this money away. Heliodorus entering the temple, is by angels struck down in the very place, and carried from thence half dead; but by the prayers of Onias he is soon after restored to his health. Returning to Seleucus that sent him, he magnifies the holiness of the temple, and the power of God dwelling in it.
176.	1 Mac. I. 10.	Antiochus Epiphanes succeeds Seleucus in the kingdom of Syria, and reigneth 11 years, and some months.
175.	2 Mac.	Jason, by corrupting king Antiochus, obtaineth the office of high priest.
172.	IV. 7. 23, 24,	Menelaus, brother to Simon the traitor, being employed by Jason to carry the money to the king, promiseth 300 talents of silver above what Jason had sent and getteth the priesthood to himself.
170.	27.	Menelaus, not paying the money he had promised the king at his admission, is summoned to appear before Antiochus; he substituteth Lysimachus his brother in his place.
	1 Mac. I. 21, 22.	Antiochus taketh Jerusalem, and sacking it, pillageth the temple, destroyeth 40,000 of the inhabitants, and selleth as many more. He endeavoureth also to
	2 Mac. V.	abolish the worship of God, and forceth many Jews to forsake their religion.
	Jos. Ant. I. 12. c. 7.	The Samaritans now disown their relation to the Jews, to whom in prosperity they pretended alliance, and consecrate the temple on mount Gerizim to Jupiter.
168.	Daniel XI. 28. 1 Mac. VIII. 5.	Perseus, having made war upon the Romans, is this year overcome by them, and the kingdom of the Macedonians ends, when from Caranus it had stood 626 years. Nevertheless the relics of the Macedonian empire, while that of the Roman was rising, did yet survive in the Ptolemies of Egypt, and the kings of Syria.
167.	I. 45.	King Antiochus, by a public edict, commands all nations that are subject unto him to observe the same way of divine worship, and laying aside their peculiar customs, to profess the same religion with the Grecians; the punishment of death being threatened unto such as shall be disobedient; and he appoints overseers over every people and nation who shall compel them hereunto. Of the Jews, many choose rather to undergo the most cruel torments, than to offer sacrifice unto idols; all which martyrdoms, with those glorious sufferings of the seven Maccabean brethren, are recorded in the two Books of Maccabees.

After Christ
	Matth. XXVII. Mark XV. Luke XXIII. John XIX. Psalm XXII.	In the self-same night Christ is betrayed by Judas, mocked, buffeted and spit upon, by the soldiers. Next day he is condemned by Pilate, and crucified; the sun during the crucifixion is darkened, and the vail of the temple rent in the midst. Christ praying for his enemies gives up the ghost. Joseph of Arimathea begs the body, and lays it in a new sepulchre.
	Matth. XXVIII. Mark XVI. Luke XXIV. John XX.	On the third day, the next after the Jewish sabbath, (April 5.) Christ riseth from the dead; his resurrection is declared by angels to the women that came to the sepulchre. Christ first appeareth to Mary Magdalene, and afterward to his disciples, and dineth with them. Christ bringeth his apostles to mount Olivet; commandeth them to expect in Jerusalem the sending down of the Holy Ghost: sends them to teach and baptize all nations, and blesses them, and while they behold, he is taken up, and a cloud receives him out of their sight. After his ascension the disciples are warned by two angels to depart, and to set their minds upon his second coming; they accordingly return, and, giving themselves to prayer, choose Matthias to be an apostle in the place of Judas.
	Acts I. Matth. XXVIII. Acts II.	On the day of Pentecost (May 24.) the Holy Ghost descendeth on the apostles in the form of cloven tongues, like as of fire, and enableth them to speak all languages. Peter the same day preacheth Christ and the resurrection, and about 3000 believers are added to the church.
	III.	Peter by faith in Christ's name healeth a lame man.
	IV.	The rulers of the Jews, offended at Peter's sermon, and his miraculous cure of the lame man, cast both him and John into prison; upon their examination they boldly avouch the lame man to be healed by the name of Jesus, and that by the same Jesus we must be eternally saved. After this the Jews forbid them to speak any more in that name; but the apostles answer, That it is fit they should obey God rather than men. They are threatened, and let go.
	V. 1, 17.	Ananias and his wife Sapphira for their hypocrisy are suddenly struck dead. The apostles are again cast into prison by the high priest; but an angel sets them at liberty, and bids them preach the gospel to the people without fear: being taken again teaching in the temple, they are brought before the council; where by the advice of Gamaliel, a Pharisee, and doctor of the law, they are delivered.
34.	VI.	The number of believers increasing at Jerusalem, the apostles ordain seven deacons, who should distribute the alms of the whole church to the widows and poorer sort of believers. Stephen, one of these deacons, having confounded some that disputed with him, is by them falsely accused of blasphemy, and
	VII.	brought before the council, where he reprehends their rebellion, and murdering of Christ. Whereupon they cast him out of the city, and stone him; he in the meantime praying for them.
	VIII.	A great persecution of the Church at Jerusalem follows after the death of the first Martyr Stephen.
	5,	Philip, one of the seven deacons, preacheth at Samaria, and converteth many; worketh miracles, and healeth the sick. Simon the sorcerer, seeing the wonders that are done by Philip, believeth, and is baptized.
	15.	The apostles at Jerusalem, hearing that Samaria had received the faith, send thither Peter and John to confirm and enlarge the Church. The apostles by prayer and imposition of hands confer the Holy Ghost on all believers. Simon Magus offers them money, that he may receive the power of conferring the same, whose impiety is sharply reproved by Peter. Having completed their ministry in those parts, they return to Jerusalem.
35.	VIII. 26. IX. 1.	An angel sendeth Philip to teach and baptize the Ethiopian eunuch. Saul, a violent persecutor of all that call on the name of Jesus, and one who consented to the death of Stephen, goes now towards Damascus with commission from the high priest and the council to apprehend all Christians in those parts, and to bring them bound to Jerusalem; on the way he is miraculously converted by a voice from heaven; and three days after baptized by Ananias at Damascus, where he preacheth the gospel of Christ with great boldness, to the astonishment of those that knew upon what design he was sent thither.
38.	23.	Saul having preached the gospel at Damascus a long time, the Jews lay wait to kill him, but he escapeth from thence, and comes to Jerusalem; there he sees Peter, and James the brother of our Lord, and abides with them fifteen days.
	2 Cor. XI. 32. Gal. I. 18.	Here he speaks boldly in the name of Jesus, and disputes with the Grecians, or rather Jews that used the Greek tongue. These also consult how they may kill him.
	Acts XXII. 17.	While Saul prays in the temple, he is in a trance, and the Lord appears unto him, and bids him to depart from Jerusalem, because they will not receive his testimony; adding, that he will send him to the Gentiles.
	IX. 30. Gal. I. 21. Acts IX. 32.	Saul leaving Jerusalem goes to his own country Tarsus, and from thence travels into Syria and Cilicia. Peter visits the churches of Judea, Galilee, Samaria, &c. At Lydda he cureth Eneas of the palsy; and at Joppa restoreth Tabitha to life.
41.	36. X.	At Cesarea, Cornelius, a centurion, by prayers and alms finds favour in the sight of God, and is commanded by an angel to send for Peter now at Joppa. God by a vision teacheth Peter not to despise the Gentiles. Peter, being sent for by Cornelius, goes and preacheth Christ to him and a great company that were met at his house: while Peter preacheth, the Holy Ghost falls upon them all; and immediately the apostle baptizeth them.
	XI	Peter, at his return to Jerusalem, is accused by those of the circumcision for conversing with the Gentiles; but he declares to them his vision, and the whole matter concerning Cornelius; and they glorify God for granting to the Gentiles also repentance unto life.
		The believers, who ever since the martyrdom of Stephen, and the persecution thereupon ensuing, had been dispersed throughout all Phenice and Cyprus, come now to Antioch, and preach the gospel to the Greeks there, having before preached to none but the Jews. The Church at Jerusalem understanding this, and that the number of believers increased exceedingly, sends Barnabas thither to confirm them; he goes to Tarsus, and takes Saul along with him to Antioch, where they continue a whole year, converting multitudes to the faith. Here the disciples were first called Christians.
44.	XII.	About this time James the brother of John is beheaded by the command of Herod Agrippa. He also imprisoneth Peter, whom an angel delivers upon the prayers of the church. This same Herod, not long after, speaking to the people at Cesarea, some of them cry out, It is the voice of God, and not of man: and immediately an angel of the Lord smites him, because he gave not the glory to God; and he is eaten of worms, and dieth.
45.	XIII.	Barnabas and Saul set forward in their preaching of the gospel. They plant the Christian faith in Seleucia, Cyprus, and other places. At Paphos they preach the gospel to Sergius Paulus, governor of that country: Elymas, a sorcerer, withstanding them, and endeavouring to turn away Sergius from the faith, is at Saul's rebuke struck blind. From this time Saul is always called by his new name Paul; he preacheth at Antioch; the Gentiles believe, but the Jews gainsay and blaspheme. Whereupon he and his assistants turn to the Gentiles, and come to Iconium.
46.	XIV	At Iconium they are persecuted and ready to be stoned. From hence they fly to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia. At Lystra, Paul healing a cripple, the multitude cry out, that the gods are come down, and call Barnabas Jupiter and Paul, Mercurius; and would have sacrificed to them, had not the apostles with clothes rent run in among them, and assured them that they were men

Paul is by the furious multitude stoned, and drawn out of the city as dead; but whilst the disciples stand about him, he riseth up, and the next day departs with Barnabas to Derbe.
46.	XII. 2.	In this year, perhaps at this very time, Paul was caught up into the third heaven, and heard unspeakable words, fourteen years before he wrote his second epistle to the Corinthians.
	2 Tim. I. 2, 5.	About this time Timothy, though a child, with his mother Eunice, and his grandmother Lois, embrace the Christian faith preached by Paul.
52.	Acts XV.	Certain Judaizing Christians come from Judea to Antioch, and teach that the Gentiles ought to be circumcised, and observe the law of Moses; these Paul and Barnabas oppose, and a council is held by the apostles and others at Jerusalem to determine this controversy. The decrees of the synod are sent to the churches.
53.	36.	Paul and Barnabas, thinking to visit the churches together, fall at strife, and part asunder: Barnabas and Mark go into Cyprus; Paul and Silas into Syria and Cilicia.
	XVI.	Paul coming to Derbe finds there Timothy, whom (because his mother was a believing Jew, though his father a Gentile) he causeth to be circumcised, and takes him along with him. He is by a vision admonished to go into Macedonia; coming to Philippi, the chief city of that part of Macedonia, he converts Lydia: casteth out of a certain maid-servant a spirit of divination, whose master losing a considerable gain thereby, brings Paul and Silas before the magistrates: these cause them to be whipped and imprisoned; but at midnight, Paul and Silas praying and singing psalms, the doors of the prison fly open, and their bonds are loosed: the jailer, ready to kill himself, is converted to the faith, and baptized the same night with his whole family. Next day the magistrates come themselves, and pray them to depart the city.
54.	XVII.	From Philippi Paul takes his journey through Amphipolis and Apollonia, and comes to Thessalonica, where he finds a synagogue of the Jews; there he preacheth three sabbath-days; some believe, others persecute him. Leaving Thessalonica he comes to Berea, and soon after arrives at Athens, disputes with the philosophers, and declares unto them that UNKNOWN GOD, whom they had ignorantly worshipped. He converts Dionysius the Areopagite, and thence passeth to Corinth.
	XVIII.	Paul at Corinth meets with Aquila and Priscilla, not long before banished Rome by the decree of Claudius. Here he continues a year and six months, and thence writes to the Thessalonians.
55.		Paul is accused by the Jews, and brought before Gallio, proconsul of Achaia, who refuseth to judge in a controversy about religion, and so drives them away from the judgment-seat.
56.	18.	Paul departs from Corinth, and passeth to Ephesus, thence he sets out towards Jerusalem, that he may be at the feast; he lands at Cesarea, goes down to Antioch, and comes into the regions of Galatia and Phrygia, confirming the disciples in all those places.
57.	XIX.	Paul returns to Ephesus, disputes daily in the school of Tyrannus, and continues preaching there, and the parts thereabout.
58.		He writes his epistle to the Galatians.
60.		At Ephesus, Demetrius a silversmith, jealous of his gain, raiseth a tumult against Paul, which is appeased by the town-clerk.
	1 Cor. I. 11.	About this time a schism ariseth in the church at Corinth, which causeth Paul (now in or about Ephesus) to write his first epistle to the Corinthians.
	XVI. 8. Acts XX.	Paul departs from Ephesus, and comes into Macedonia, and gathers a contribution for the relief of the saints at Jerusalem.
	2 Cor. VIII. 1, 2, 6, 19.	The apostle, having learnt from Titus the success of his first, writes now his second epistle to the Corinthians. Out of Macedonia he goes into Greece, and comes to Corinth, where he writes his epistle to the Romans.
	1 Cor. XVI. 5. Acts XX. 3, 4, 6.	Paul purposing to go directly from thence into Syria, that he may carry the collections to Jerusalem, the Jews lay wait for him; he understanding this, is fain to return into Macedonia the same way he came, and thence to pass into Asia.
		After the days of unleavened bread Paul sails from Philippi, and comes to Troas; there he restores Eutychus to life. Having passed through several cities of Greece, he arrives at Miletus; from thence he sends to call the elders of the Church of Ephesus, whom he earnestly exhorts to the performance of their duty.
	XXI.	Paul comes to Jerusalem, is apprehended in the temple, and secured in the castle; he claimeth the privilege of a Roman, and escapeth scourging.
	XXII.	Paul pleadeth his cause before Ananias the high priest. The chief captain,
	XXIII.	understanding that above forty Jews had bound themselves under a curse neither to eat nor drink till they had killed him, sends him to Felix the governor of the province, by whom he is imprisoned at Cesarea.
62.	XXIV.	Paul is accused before Felix by Tertullus the orator: Felix goes out of his office, and, to gratify the Jews, leaves Paul in prison. Porcius Festus succeeds him in the government.
	Acts XXV.	The Jews come to Cesarea, and accuse Paul before Festus. He answereth for himself, and appeals unto Cesar. King Agrippa comes to Cesarea, and Festus opens the whole matter to him.
	XXVI.	Paul makes his defence in the presence of Agrippa; who thereby is almost persuaded to be a Christian, and the whole company pronounce him innocent.
63.	XXVIII.	Paul comes to Rome, is a prisoner at large, and preacheth there two years. Here ends the History of the Acts of the Apostles, written by St. Luke, St. Paul's beloved companion in his travels.
64.		Saint Paul from Rome writes his epistles, To the Philippians. To Philemon. To the Colossians. To the Ephesians.
65.	Heb. XIII. 24. Tit. I. 5.	About the latter end of this year St. Paul is set at liberty; and a little before his departure out of Italy into Asia he writes his epistle to the Hebrews. He preacheth the gospel in the isle of Crete, and leaves Titus there to set things in order and ordain elders in every city.
66.		St. Paul writes his epistles, To Timothy I. To Titus. To Timothy II.
		About this time the epistles of St. Peter, St. John, and St. Jude, seem to be written.
67.	Euseb. Hist. Ec. I. 2. c. 24.	St. Peter and St. Paul are said to have suffered martyrdom at Rome towards the latter end of Nero's reign.
70.	Luke XIX. 43, 44.	This year Jerusalem (according to Christ's prophecy) is besieged, taken, sacked, and burnt, by Titus, 1,100,000 of the Jews perish, 97,000 are taken prisoners besides an innumerable company that in other places of Judea kill themselves, or perish through famine, banishment, or other miseries.
96.		St. John is banished into the isle of Patmos by Domitian, and there receives and writes his Revelation.
		After the death of Domitian St. John returns to Ephesus, and at the request of the Church writes his Gospel.

TABLES OF SCRIPTURE MEASURES, WEIGHTS, AND COINS:
WITH AN APPENDIX.

CONTAINING THE METHOD OF CALCULATING ITS MEASURES OF SURFACE, HITHERTO WANTING IN TREATISES ON TIHS SUBJECT

By the Right Reverend RICHARD Lord Bishop of Peterborough.

A MEASURE is a known quantity applied to another of the same kind that is less known, to make its dimensions better known, by help of numbers expressing the proportion that the known quantity bears to the unknown. The dimensions to be measured are three: 1. Mere length, which hath but one dimension. 2. Surface, which consists of length multiplied into breadth; so it hath two dimensions, as it were interwoven; and this is always measured by some square surface already known, as by a square foot, or a square cubit, or any other square already known, by help of its side. Moses generally useth the square cubit. 3. Solidity or Capacity, which hath three dimensions multiplied into each other: length, breadth, and height, or depth. This is measured by a known cube. From solidity ariseth weight in all sublunary bodies: and by weight we measure the value of coins. Therefore I shall join weights and coins together in the fourth table.

I use = to signify Equal: : : to express Proportion: . is called Separatrix, parting Decimals from Integers.

I. TABLE. Measures of Length.

I express the Cubit, and its Parts, both by Inch Measure, and by Foot Measure; which I deduce from Inches by this Proportion:

As 12. 1. : : 21.888 : 1.824

	Inch. Dec.	Foot. Dec.
A Cubit is = to	21.888	1.824
A Span the longer = ½ a Cubit	10.944	.912
Span the less = ⅖ of a Cubit	7.296	.608
A Hand's breadth = 1/6 of a Cubit	3.684	.304
A Finger's breadth = 1/24 of a Cubit	.912	.076

Measures of many Cubits Length I express only in Foot Measure.

	Feet Dec.
A Fathom = 4 Cubits	7.296
Ezekiel's Reed = 6 Cubits	10.944
Schœnus, the Egyptian Line for Land Measure, which I think Scripture useth to divide Inheritances. Psalm xvi. 6. and lxxviii. 55. They used different Lengths, but the shortest and most useful was,	Cubits. 80 = 145.92

Herodotus mentions a Schœnus just 300 times as long: I judge that all the greater were made in proportion to the least.

The Mile =	4000 Cubits = 7296 Feet.
Stadium, 1/10 of their Mile =	400 Cubits = 729.6
Parasang, 3 of their Miles =	12000 Cubits = 4 English Miles, and 580 Feet.

II. TABLE. Measures of Surface.

Moses hath described these by square Cubits. I here express them reduced to our square Feet. The method of this reduction is taught in an Appendix. I first propose three clear examples given by Moses; Secondly, I place six instances of greater difficulty.

The clearest examples are,

I. The Altar of Incense. Only two sides of it, viz. its length and breadth, are expressed by Moses; each of them is affirmed to be one Cubit. Yet he declares it was four square: whence we collect, that it was just one square Cubit. See Exod. xxx. 2. Now it is demonstrated in the Appendix, that one Jewish square Cubit amounts to in surface three English square Feet, and about 47 square Inches.

II. The Table of Shew-bread, Exod. xxv. 23. It is affirmed to be two Cubits in length, and one in breadth. None doubt but it was rectangular, containing two Jewish square Cubits. These amount to above six English square Feet, and above half, viz. 94 square Inches.

III. The Boards of the Tabernacle, each 10 Cubits in length, and one and a half in breadth, Exod. xxvi. 16. being rectangular, must contain 15 square Cubits, Jewish. These are proved to contain very near 50 square Feet of English Measure.

The more difficult cases reserved to the Appendix are,

I. The Mercy-seat, whose surface is = 12 square Feet and a half.

II. A general method is taught of reducing any given number of Jewish Cubits to English square Feet.

III. The example of the 15 square Cubits in the Boards of the Tabernacle is made clearer.

IV. The Court of the Tabernacle, described Exod. xxvii. 18. is found to be just half the Egyptian Aroura, and to contain 1 Rood, 21 Perches, 27 square Feet, &c.

V. The whole Aroura is determined, and reduced to our English Measures, 3 Roods, 2 Perches, 55 square Feet.

VI. The suburbs, or Glebe Land, given to each city of the Levites, Numb. xxxv. 3, 4, 5. is shewed to be a square, on each of the four sides of every city, containing a million of Jewish square Cubits, or 100 Arourœ; which amount to in each Square 76 Acres, 1 Rood, 20 Perches, 80 square Feet. Whence we collect, that all the four Squares amounted to 305 Acres, 2 Roods, 1 Perch, besides 51 Feet square

An APPENDIX to the Second Table of Measures of Surface described by Moses, shewing the Method of reducing them by Calculation to the Measures used in England, for the benefit of those that understand Decimal Arithmetic, and desire to try the Reductions given in the Table, or to make further Improvements in this kind of Measures.

1. The Mercy of Grace among the Jews. I SHALL begin with Reduction of the Measures of the Mercy-Seat, which was God's Throne Moses in Exod. xxv. 17 affirms, that its length was two Cubits Seat. and a half, its breadth one Cubit and a half. The fractions adhering to its length and breadth make some difficulty to beginners in Arithmetic, which the Decimal way doth much abate. Supposing therefore, what I have elsewhere proved, that the Jewish cubit was in Foot measure 1.824; the length must be expressed in Foot measure, and Decimals thereof, 4.560. The breadth in like measure will be 2.736. Wherefore the product of these numbers multiplied into each other gives its surface 12.47,616: in number of its square Feet, and Decimals thereof, 12 square Feet, and very near half a square Foot; if the Decimals had been .50, it had been just half a Foot. If we desire to express those Decimals of a Foot in square Inches, as is usual in England, we must multiply .47,616 by 144, the square Inches of a Foot, and the product will be 68.56,704; which shews that the Decimals we found amount to 68 square Inches, and about half an Inch more: we need not be nicer.

2. A square Cubit reduced to our Measure.

2. In the Altar of Incense Moses describes the Jewish square Cubit, which must be reduced to our Foot measure, thus, $\frac{1}{1}\frac{8}{8}\frac{2}{2}\frac{4}{4}$. The product of these numbers multiplied will be the upper surface of this Altar, 3.326,976, that is, three square Feet, and .326,976 Decimals of a square Foot, which we may express by 47 square Inches, and a few Decimals of an Inch square inconsiderable.

3. The Boards of the Tabernacle.

3. Moses's description of the boards of the Tabernacle, Exod. xxvi. 16. by 10 Cubits in length, and one and a half in breadth, naturally leads a man to discern in each board's surface 15 Jewish square Cubits; because if we conceive a line drawn from the end of one Cubit at the bottom of the Board to the end of one Cubit at the top of the Board, this must needs be 10 whole square Cubits on one side of that line, and 10 half square Cubits (=5 whole) on the other side of that line: here therefore are 15 square Cubits. The reduction of these into English square Feet is performed by multiplying 15, viz. the number of Cubits given into 3.326,976 the Feet and Decimals of one square Cubit, and the product will be 49.90,464, and that is very near to fifty square Feet; for those Decimals amount to above 130 square Inches; and little more than 13 square Inches would make it just 50 Feet, which abatement we need not here regard.

4. The Court of the Tabernacle.

4. Let us now go to the measure of the surface of land. But we will begin with the Court of the Tabernacle, the ground on which the Priests performed all the solemn public worship of Israel in Moses's time. The Area of this Court is described by Moses, Exod. xxv. 18 by its length 100 Cubits, and its breadth every where 50 Cubits. Wherefore this Area must be in Jewish measure 5000 square Cubits, for that is the product of 100 multiplied into 50. To reduce these 5000 Jewish Cubits into English square Feet, I must multiply 5000 into 3.326,976, the product is 16,634.88 English square Feet.

But in cases of such long numbers of Feet we use for brevity's sake, and to help our memories, to reduce them into Perches, or Roods, or Acres, which contain known numbers of square Feet. A Perch contains 272 square Feet and 1-4. A Rood is = to 10,890 square Feet. An Acre is = to 43,560 square Feet. It is plain that the number 16,634.88 hath not integers equal to those of an Acre; but it hath enough to answer those in a Rood, and some overplus: therefore I must divide 16,634.88 by 10.890, which is a Rood. By such division continued in the Decimal way, until I have a fraction of five or six places, which is exact enough, I find the quote to be 1.527,537, which assures me that my number 16,634.88 hath but once entirely in it a whole Rood: but it hath moreover in it many Decimal parts of a Rood. These therefore I reduce to the Perches contained in them, by multiplying them into 40, which is the number of Perches that make up a Rood: and cutting off six places from the product, which is 21.101,480; so I find there are 21 Perches entire, and the figures after the Separatrix are Decimals of a Perch. These also I multiply by 272.25, which are the square Feet and Decimals of a Perch. The product of this last multiplication, after eight places cut off from it by the Separatrix, because there were six places of Decimals in one of the multipliers, and two in the other, is 27.62,793.000. Hence I learn that there are therein but 27 entire Feet, all the eight Decimal places amount to little above half a foot, and therefore I cast them away as inconsiderable in the measure of land. This method of reduction by multiplication of Decimals I find to be easier than the common way of reduction by division, and therefore I propose it to be used by beginners in this practice of surveying. So I find this court to contain in English measure 1 Rood, 21 Perches, 27 Feet, and little more than half a foot squared. But reflecting upon Moses's measure by Cubits, and finding them to be precisely 5000 square Cubits, I observed that they were just half 10,000, which I had observed from Herodotus's Euterpe to be the Area of the Egyptian Aroura by which their land was as generally measured, as ours is by Acres and Roods. See Herodot. l. 2. c. 168. I called also to mind a passage in Manetho an Egyptian Priest, cited by Josephus in his first book against Apion, where he affirms, that Manetho in his history of the reign, wars, and expulsion, of the Pastors (whom Africanus affirms to be Phœnicians, or Canaanites, and Josephus vainly believed to be Jews,) wrote out of the public Records of Egypt, that these Pastors made at Abaris a very large and strong encampment, that encompassed 10,000 Arourœ, sufficient to contain 240,000 men, and long to maintain their cattle. Hence it appears, that not only the Egyptians, but the Phœnicians or Canaanites also, that had dwelt among them, and had reigned there during the time of six kings successively, used this measure of land called Aroura. Now this was long before Moses's time; for the beginning of Amosis or Tethmosis, who expelled them out of Egypt, was very near the time of Abraham's death, as appears by the annals of the learned Primate of Ireland. Wherefore I believe that Moses, who was skilled in all Egyptian learning, especially surveying, did of choice make the Court of the Tabernacle to be just half an Aroura, which was a known measure to him and his people, who had long dwelt in Egypt, and Divine Authority directed him so to do.

The Reduction of an Aroura to English measures.

5. Because we have shewn from Herodotus, that an Aroura is the square of 100 Jewish or Egyptian Cubits, and 100 such Cubits may in English Foot measure be expressed by 182.4 English Feet, it follows, that the square of this number will express exactly the number of the English square Feet that are contained in an Aroura. Now by multiplication of 182.4 into itself, I find the product to be 33,269.76: Therefore I conclude that there are 33,269 square Feet entire, and .76 Decimals of a square Foot, in an Aroura. Now to reduce these English square Feet into Roods, Perches, and the remainder of square Feet, I use the method used in the last paragraph. First, I divide them by 10,890, the square Feet in a Rood; and the quote I find 3.055,074, that is 3 Roods, and .055,074 Decimals of a Rood. Secondly, I multiply those Decimals by 40, which is the number of Perches in a Rood, the product is 2,202,960. Hence I conclude there are therein two Perches, and .202,960 Decimals of a Perch. Thirdly, I multiply these last Decimals by 272.25, which are the square Feet of a Perch. The product is 55.25,586,000, that is 55 entire square Feet; the eight places of Decimals amount to little above 1-4 of a square Foot, therefore I reject them as inconsiderable in measure of land. By all these reductions it is found, that an Aroura is in English measure three Roods, two Perches, 55 1-4 square Feet. Hence it follows also, that it is not well translated by Jugerum, for it is much larger: nor is it well in English called an Acre, for it is considerably less. To this place I refer the use of the lesser sort of χοινος, which yet is most convenient for the use of the Egyptians, and of the Jews, to measure out private men's inheritances by a line which was 80 Cubits long. For the length of this line will measure one side of an Arourα, if the other side be 125 Cubits long, which is the length of this line, and its half, and 5 Cubits above half of it, which they might easily mark on it by a knot or a ring. And by this means they might easily lay any number of Arourα together, all of them rectangular and parallel to each other. Such lines I suppose for measure of inheritances are intimated, Psalm lxxviii. 55. and xvi. 6, &c.

The Levites' Glebe.

6. I shall conclude with an example amounting after reduction to a number of English Acres, which measure we have not yet reached to. This I take from Numb. xxxv. 3, 4, 5, verses. There Moses describes what measure of land the Levites were to be allowed for their cattle, their goods, and all their beasts, on the north, east, south, and west sides of each of their cities. So that the city was to be in the midst of the land belonging to it. This land in our translation is called suburbs, because of its nearness to all their cities. But we must not thence imagine that it means houses and streets adjoining to their cities, in which sense we sometimes use the word suburbs. For Moses plainly tells us they were places for their several sorts of cattle to feed in, such as might also be orchards or gardens for fruits, or perhaps for a little corn, comprehended in the words, their goods. These fields he limits by 1000 Cubits, which was just a quarter of an eastern mile, but amounts in mere length to 608 yards English measure, and therefore exceeds a quarter of an English mile by 168 yards in length. But it is certain that cattle cannot feed upon mere length, but this must signify the side of some surface of land bounded thereby, and we must have two sides of that surface given, before we can find the Area, or surface contained. Therefore Moses, ver. 5, tells us, that on each side of each city they must measure 2000 Cubits, which will determine no surface, unless we understand it to mean the two sides of a square, bounded on every side by 1000 Cubits; these two sides multiplied into each other will produce a square that contains just a million of square Cubits, and that is a known and exact measure of just 100 Arourα: and this shews that the 2000 Cubits mentioned ver. 5 are the two sides of that square, whereof the 1000 mentioned ver. 4, is one, and may be called the root of the square. This shews the agreement of the two different numbers. The reduction of this million of square Cubits will be performed by the same method I have used before. Therefore, first, I express 1000 Jewish Cubits by 1824 English Feet, without any Separatrix, according to the principles owned in Decimal Arithmetic: and the square of that number will be 3,326,976, without a separatrix. Secondly, I divide this number by 43,560, which are the square Feet of an Acre, and find the quote to be 76.376,358, which signify 76 entire Acres, and .376,858, Decimals of an Acre. Thirdly, to find what Roods are contained in these Decimals, I multiply them by four, the number of Roods in an Acre, and find the quote to be 1.507,436, which proves that there is but one Rood in them, and the six figures cut off by the Separatrix (because there were six Decimals in one of the multipliers) are all Decimals of a Rood. Fourthly, therefore, to find what Perches are in these last Decimals, I multiply them by 40, which is the number of Perches contained in a Rood. The product is 20.297,440; hereby I find there are 20 entire Perches, besides the Decimals of a Perch placed after the Separatrix. Fifthly, to find what square Feet are in those last Decimals, I multiply them by 272.25, which are the square Feet and Decimals in a Perch. the product is 80.97,804, which is 80 square Feet, and all the Decimals not amounting to a square Foot, I reject as inconsiderable in measure of land. Thus we have found that this and every other square on each side of every Levitical City, was prescribed to be 76 Acres, 1 Rood, 20 Perches, 80 square Feet in our measure, but was just a million of square cubits in their measure.

To add the four squares belonging to one Levitical City together, the best way will be to take the first quote that we found in Acre measure, viz. 76.376,358, and we must multiply it by four, and we shall find, by the method I have used, all the four squares together to amount to 305 Acres, 2 Roods, 1 Perch; we need not take notice of any lesser quantities in this case. We may also by this method find the sum of the Acres belonging to all the 48 cities of the Levites, and many other improvements in this kind of measuring surfaces. But I leave them to the industry of others.

JUDEA, PALESTINE, OR THE HOLY LAND.

PALESTINE is bounded on the north, by Mount Libanus, or Lebanon, which separates it from that part of Syria, anciently called Phœnicia; on the east by Mount Hermon, which divides it from Arabia Deserta; on the south by Arabia Petrea; and on the west by the Mediterranean Sea, or sea of Syria.

This country received the name of Palestine from the Philistines, who dwelt on the sea-coast: it was called Judea, from Judah; and it is termed the Holy Land, being the country where Jesus Christ was born, preached his holy doctrines, confirmed them by miracles, and laid down his life for mankind. Palestine is about one hundred and eighty five miles in length, and generally eighty in breadth; it is situated between 31° and 33° 40. north latitude.

The climate of Palestine is, during a great part of the year, very hot. The easterly winds are usually dry, though they are sometimes tempestuous; and those which are westerly, are attended with rain. The heat here might be expected to be excessive; yet Mount Libanus, from its uncommon height, is covered all the winter with snow.

The first rains as they are called, generally fall about the beginning of November; and the latter rains, in the month of April. In the country round Jerusalem, if a moderate quantity of snow falls in the beginning of February, and the brooks soon after overflow their banks, it is thought to foreboide a fruitful year; and the inhabitants make rejoicings upon this occasion, as the Egyptians do with respect to the Nile; this country is seldom refreshed with rain during the summer season.

The rocks of Judea are, in many places, covered with a soft chalky substance, in which is enclosed a great variety of shells and corals. The greatest part of the mountains of Carmel, and those of Jerusalem and Bethlehem, are overspread with a white chalky stratum. In mount Carmel, are gathered many stones, which, being in the form of olives, melons, peaches, and other fruit, are imposed upon pilgrims, not only as those fruits petrified, but as antidotes against several diseases.

With respect to the rivers of the country, the Jordan, called by the Arabs Seeriah, is not only the most considerable, but, next to the Nile, is the largest, either in the Levant or in Barbary. It has its source at the bottom of Mount Libanus or Lebanon, and is formed from the waters of two fountains, which are about a mile distant from each other. One of them lies to the east, and is called Jor; the other, which is exposed to the south, is named Dan. The confluence of the two streams is found near the ancient city of Cesarea Philippi, which is at present only a village, and called Beline. The river takes a course between the E. and S. and after running seven miles, falls into the lake Samochon or Mathon, at present called Holetpanias, about six miles in length, from north to south, and nearly four in breadth, from east to west. The Jordan issues from this lake, and flows through a great plain, passing under a stone bridge called Jacob's Bridge, consisting of three arches, well constructed. The river then continues its course as far as the lake of Tiberias, near the ancient cities of Chorazin and Capernaum, where it mixes with its waters. When it issues from this lake, which is about eighteen miles in length, and eight in breadth, it takes the name of Jordan Major, dividing Perea from Samaria, the plains of the Moabites from Judea, and receiving the waters of the Dibon, the Jazer, the Jacob, and the Carith; after being augmented by these streams, in a course of sixty-five miles from the lake of Tiberias, or sea of Galilee, it discharges itself into the Dead Sea. The Jordan, in the rainy seasons, overflows its banks, to the distance of more than four miles; and on account of the inequality of the ground, forms two or three channels. Its current is extremely rapid, and the water always muddy: but when taken from the river, and put into any kind of vessel, it very soon clarifies, and is sweet.

The Dead Sea is a name of modern date; the ancients called it the lake of Asphaltites, the sea of Sodom, the Salt Sea, the lake of Sirbon, the Arabs name it Bahheret-Lut: that is, the sea of Lot. It is about fifty miles in length, and ten in breadth. The lofty mountains of the country of the Moabites are on the eastern side, and discharge into it the waters of Arnon and the Jaret. On the west and south it is bounded by very high mountains also. It is likewise on the west that the brook Cedron, which rises at Jerusalem, empties into this sea.

We are informed that this vast lake was covered formerly with fruit-trees and abundant crops, and that from the bosom of the earth, now buried under its waters, arose the superb cities of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, Zeboiim, and Segor. No plants of any kind grow in this lake. The bottom of it is black thick, and fœtid. Branches of trees, which fall therein, become petrified in a little time. The Dead Sea produces a kind of bitumen, which may be found floating on the surface, like large lumps of earth. This bitumen is a sulphurous substance, mixed with salt; it is as brittle as black pitch, is combustible, and exhales, while burning, a strong and penetrating smell. The ancient Arabs used it for smearing and embalming their dead, to preserve them from perishing. The mountains near this sea produce a kind of black stone, which, when polished, has a beautiful lustre.

Acra, or Acre, (now called St. John de Acre, and which the Arabs, call Accho, or Akka,) is one of the places from which the Israelites could not expel the ancient Canaanites, and was formerly reckoned among the ancient cities of Phœnicia. It is also known by the name of Ptolemais. The situation is advantageous; on the north and east, it is encompassed by a fertile plain; on the west it is washed by the Mediterranean; and on the south by a large bay, which extends from the city as far as Mount Carmel. It contains little more than a few cottages, and heaps of ruins. The residence of the bashaw of the province is at this place.

To the south of Acre, is Sebasta, the ancient Samaria, the capital of the ten tribes after their revolt from the house of David. It is seated on a long mount, which rises in a fruitful valley, and is now converted into gardens.

A little farther to the south is Naplosa, the ancient Sychem, which stands in a narrow valley, between Mount Ebal on the north, and Gerizim on the south. At a small distance from Naplosa, is Jacob's well, famous for Christ's conference with the woman of Samaria.

Jerusalem is encompassed with hills, so that the city seems as if situated in an amphitheatre: there are few remains of the city, as it appeared in Christ's time; the situation being changed; for Mount Sion, the highest part of ancient Jerusalem, is almost excluded: while the places adjoining to Mount Calvary, are nearly in the centre. This city, which is about three miles in circumference, is situated on a rocky mountain, on all sides of which are steep ascents, except toward the north. The walls are not strong, nor have they any bastions. The city has six gates. There are supposed to be about twelve or fourteen thousand inhabitants in Jerusalem.

Jasa, the ancient Joppa, is the port where the pilgrims disembark. They generally arrive in November and repair without delay to Jerusalem.

Bethlehem, also called Ephrata, and the city of David, is famous for being the birth-place of Christ. It is about two miles to the S. E. of Jerusalem, on the ridge of a hill; at present only an inconsiderable place.

Raha, the ancient Jericho, is eighteen miles N. E. of Jerusalem, situated in a plain six or seven leagues long, by three wide, surrounded by a number of barren mountains.

Habroun, or Hebron, is twenty-four miles S. of Bethlehem. The Arabs call it El-Kahil the well-beloved. It is situated at the foot of an eminence, on which are some remains of an ancient castle.

Nazareth, now only a small village, is on the top of a high hill.

Cana of Galilee, otherwise called Cana Minor, celebrated for the miracle wrought by Christ, of changing the water into wine, is nothing more than a small village, with very few inhabitants.

Sidon, called by the Turks Sayd, is situated on the sea-coast. It was anciently a place of great strength, and had a very extensive commerce. Though it is still populous, and a place of considerable trade, it has fallen from its ancient grandeur. Its exports consist in silks, with raw and spun cotton: the manufacturing of which employs most of the inhabitants, amounting to above five thousand. The city is defended by an old castle, built in the sea.

Tyre, called by the Turks Sour, is about twenty miles to the south of Sidon. It was once very celebrated for its purple, called the Tyrian dye, produced from a shell-fish. This city was, in ancient times, the centre of an immense commerce and navigation and the nurse of arts and sciences. The ancient city stood, originally, on an island, joined to the main land by a mole; the remains of which appear at present. It has two harbours; that on the north side is very good; but the other is choked up with ruins. The present inhabitants are only a few poor fishermen, who live in vaults and caves.

Cesarea was at first called Strabo's Tower and was the capital of Palestine. This city was divided into two parts by a little hill, whereon was erected a temple dedicated to Cesar.

Jericho is situated in a large plain about twenty miles long, and ten broad, bounded by a variety of mountains on the south-west, the west, and north; it is at present inhabited by a few miserable Arabs.

The Mount of Forty Days, is situated on the north side of the plain of Jericho: the summit is covered neither with shrubs, trees, nor earth, but consists of a solid mass of white marble: it is very difficult and dangerous to ascend, the path leading by a winding course, between two dismal abysses. This mountain is one of the highest in the province, and one of its most sacred places. It takes its name from the rigorous fast which Christ observed here. From this mount may be seen the hills of Arabia, the country of Gilead, the country of the Ammonites, the plains of Moab, and that of Jericho, the river Jordan, and the whole extent of the Dead Sea. Opposite to Jericho, beyond Jordan, rises Mount Nebo.

Mount Carmel, on the south side of the bay of Acre, projects at one part into the sea, forming a great promontory, called the point of Carmel. There are a number of grottos, gardens, and convents, on this mount; as also many cisterns for receiving the rain water. On this mountain was a fortress called Echatana.

Mount Tabor is most delightfully situated, rising amidst the plains of Galilee, distant about twelve miles from the city of Tiberias; it is distinguished by different names, as Itabyrion, Tabarium, and by the Arabs Gibel-el-Tor. It is in appearance like a sugar-loaf, and is covered from the top to the bottom with small trees.

Palestine, which comprehends the ancient country of Canaan, and was occupied by nine tribes of Israel, has experienced many and severe revolutions; the extreme fertility of the country, and its many advantages and happy situation, induced the neighbouring and powerful kingdoms to attempt its subjection: most of them succeded in reducing to obedience and slavery, the peaceable inhabitants: the Persians, Saracens, Syrians, and Romans, have alternately been masters, for a time, and then obliged to yield to superior force: they treated the conquered with the utmost barbarity, and committed the greatest devastation and slaughter; not even sparing old or young, women, or helpless children. Thus it continued changing its ferocious masters, until, in the twelfth century, the Turks taking Cesarea, the whole country fell into their possession; and has continued under their power ever since: The innumerable scenes of blood and desolation exhibited in this country, have changed it from that happy, fruitful and prosperous state, so beautifully described in Deuteronomy, to an almost uninhabited desert, and heap of ruins; few traces of its ancient splendor remain; and confusion and doubt hang over all the researches of the inquirer.

The present masters exercise unlimited and tyrannical authority over their slaves, in Palestine, keeping the miserable inhabitants in the utmost subjection; governing them by Caliphs and Bashaws, with rods of iron; and holding them in the most deplorable ignorance and superstition

BROWN'S CONCORDANCE

TO THE

OLD AND NEW TESTAMENT.

TO THE READER.

1. THAT this Concordance doth not pretend to comprehend more than any other larger ones, but to contain the principal substance of them all in little room.
2. By observing one or more principal words of any remembered text, and what are the three first letters of them, and searching under answerable words in the Concordance, the sentence will be found.
3. The original words, whether nouns or verbs, are marked in CAPiTAL letters, and those derived from them come after in Italics.
4. Where words are found in many places, the plural is distinguished from the singular; and the parts of verbs ending in —ed, —est, —eth, from their original. But when the examples are few no such distinction is made, but may be easily observed.
5. The concordant words, except the first, are marked by the first letter a. b. c. &c.; and the mark — stands for several words above marked in Italics. Divine persons are noted by answerable capitals.
6. Even other words, especially names of divine persons, are often marked by one or more of their first letters, that the sense of the line might be more complete.
